Canada Will Play Dominant Part At Conference Table

Proposals for Co-operation in Empire Trade Will Be Placed by Premier Bennett Before Imperial Conference Early Next Week; Canadian Wheat Pool Officials Confer in London to Consider Plan of Action.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Oct. 3.—The Imperial Conference will come to grips with the problem of empire trade early in the coming week. Canada will play the leading part. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will lay before the conference his proposals for co-operation in Empire trade, and he is now busy working out the scheme in detail. The scheme represents the considered views to which he referred in his opening speech of the conference.

The Canadian Prime Minister's reference to the scheme at the opening was very brief and there is the keenest eagerness to know more of his plan. It is generally believed that in the coming all-important deliberations on empire trade Canada will play a part second to none.

INDUSTRIAL STRENGTH
Canada's growing industrial strength, coupled with Prime Minister Bennett's strong Parliamentary position at Ottawa, place him in an advantageous position. The expectations are that when he makes his statement he will have a definite and clear-cut proposition to submit to the partners in the Empire.

Apart from the conference proceeding proper, the members of the Canadian delegation are engaged in exploring the ways and means of developing trade. The Canadian wheat pool officials have held a number of conferences between themselves to consider their plan of action. The informal conversations between Canada and New Zealand, are continuing.

MINERAL WEALTH
Experts with the Canadian delegation are gathering information to show how and where inter-empire trade might be improved. One diagram prepared for consideration deals with Canada's mineral wealth. It shows what Canada produces, what she might produce, what she can import from other parts of the Empire and what she now buys from foreign countries.

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTIONS
The decks are being cleared for the debate on Empire trade in the Imperial Conference proper. The heads of the respective delegations met at No. 10 Downing Street to-day and continued their preliminary discussion on constitutional questions on the agenda. They propose to conclude this part of their deliberations by Monday.

Next Wednesday was the date fixed for statements from the delegations on "Problems of Inter-Imperial Economic Relations"—in other words, inter-empire trade.

To-day's discussions turned on two points:

1. The machinery of communication between the various parts of the British Commonwealth, both between themselves and with foreign power.
2. The status of Dominion's high commissioners in London. In the former case, the working of the machinery set up as a result of the 1926 Imperial Conference, was reviewed.

On the second point, the British representatives took the ground that the question of precedence of high commissioners in London was of concern only to the Government of the United Kingdom.

In the end both questions were referred to the sub-committee under the chairmanship of Lord Sankey, Lord Chancellor of Great Britain.

DISTINGUISHED NAVAL OFFICER TO SPEAK HERE

Com. Spicer-Simson, D.S.O., R.N., to Lecture For National Council of Education

Commander G. B. Spicer-Simson, D.S.O., R.N., F.R.C.I., who is secretary-general of the International Hydrographic Bureau, with headquarters at Monte Carlo, will give two addresses in Victoria under the auspices of the National Council of Education. He will speak at the Shrine Hall, View Street, on Thursday evening, October 9, at 8.30 o'clock on "The Expedition to Lake Tanganyika," and on Thursday evening, October 16, at the same hour and place on "Anti-submarine Warfare."

DISTINGUISHED CAREER

Commander Spicer-Simson is an outstanding speaker, as all who heard him some time ago in Victoria, will recall. He has had a distinguished naval career, entering the navy in 1890 and retiring in 1921 during which he served on all the British naval stations, except Australia and East Indies, and specialized in navigation and hydrography. He was in command of H.M.S. Vixen, Charger, Fairy and Wildgoose, as senior naval officer on the Upper Yangtze River, China, commander of the British mission to the

SHIP BUMPS OFF HERE IN DENSE FOG

Canadian Winner Comes Off Macaulay Point Under Own Power After Three Hours

Is Apparently Undamaged and Proceeds to Ogden Point to Discharge Montreal Cargo

Feeling her way under a slow bell into the Ogden Point piers from Race Rocks, the Canadian National freighter Canadian Winner ran aground on the rocky bottom at Macaulay Point this morning at 7 o'clock, but came off three hours later under her own power, apparently undamaged, and proceeded to her dock.

From downtown offices it looked as if the big freighter was well perched up on the rocks. As soon as captain felt his ship touching bottom, he ordered the engines full astern, but at that time they did no good and the ship remained firm on the rocks. With a rising tide, however, and her engines working, she came off at 10 o'clock and floated into deep water.

H. A. Barnett, local representative of the San Francisco Board of Marine Underwriters, and H. A. Stuart, agent for the Canadian National freighters, visited the Winner as she lay aground this morning. Mr. Barnett looked her over and pronounced her seaworthy and able to proceed to her dock. It is not expected she will drydock, unless for painting of her bottom, which was possibly badly scraped by the rocks. As soon as she tied up at Ogden Point, discharge of 175 tons of general cargo from Montreal was commenced. It is expected the Winner will proceed to Vancouver this afternoon to finish her long voyage from Montreal and Quebec by way of the Panama Canal.

PROSPERITY WEEK HERE WINS PRAISE

Premier Tolmie Gives Hearty Endorsement to Move in Victoria

Mayor and Department Store Managers Behind Aim, Industrial Group Told

Hearty endorsement of "Prosperity Week" throughout Canada was given by Premier Tolmie to Cliff Denham of the industrial group of the Chamber of Commerce to-day. In a letter read at the chamber's meeting this afternoon, the Premier voiced his opinion as follows:

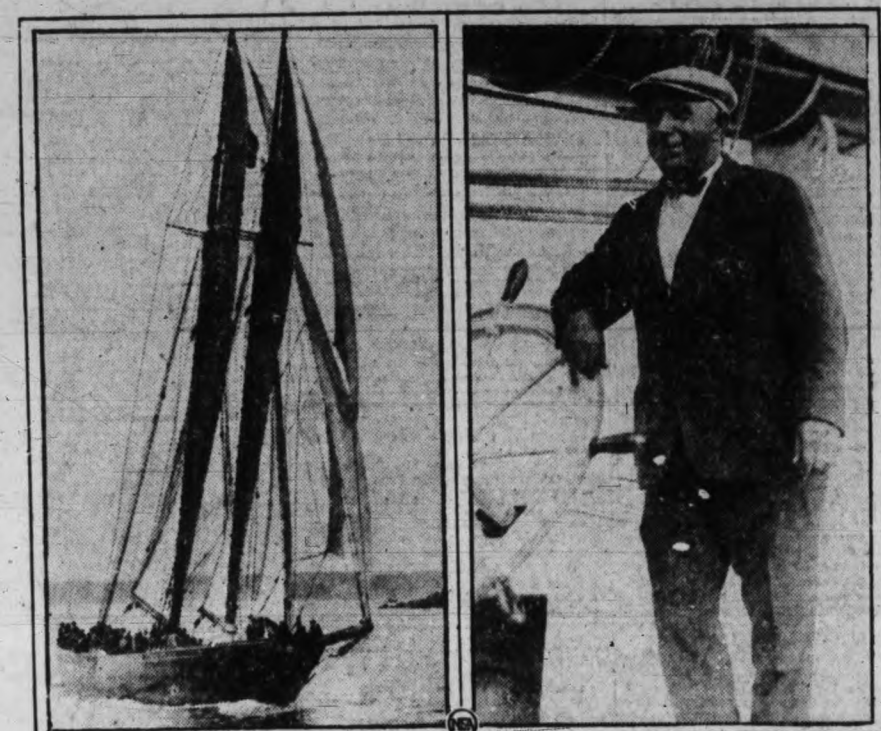

"I desire most heartily to endorse the suggestion that the period October 11 to October 18, be set aside as 'Prosperity Week' in Canada. I think the one who conceived this idea deserves very great credit."

"As a people Canadians need a greater appreciation of the importance of buying Canadian products, particularly under conditions prevailing at the present time. The old slogan, 'Keep your dollar at home and get another chance at it' was never more applicable than at the present moment."

PERU INDIANS RAID BRAZIL, CARRYING OFF WHITE WOMEN

Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 3.—Peruvian Pachaqui Indians have been on a rampage on the frontier of the January River region for several weeks, killing, robbing and carrying off persons from the Brazilian side, says an agency dispatch from Manaus.

FISHING SCHOONER AND SKIPPER DARE ENTERPRISE TO RACE

The schooner Gertrude L. Thebaud, pictured at the left, is just a hard-working member of the Gloucester, Mass., fishing fleet, but she's fast enough to challenge the America's Cup defender, Enterprise, for supremacy of sail. At the right is Captain Ben Pine of the Thebaud, who will sail her this season in the international fishermen's races off Gloucester, and who has sent a challenge to Harold K. Vanderbilt, skipper of the Enterprise. Of course, the schooner does not conform to the Class 3 rules under which Enterprise was built, but real sailing men are jubilant over the challenge, whether it is accepted or not. They point to the fact that a boat built for everyday use in any kind of weather is a fit match for a cup yacht built at great expense and with no utility except as a millionaire's racing machine.

KING BORIS MAY MARRY PRINCESS GIOVANNA OF ITALY

Rome, Oct. 3.—It was reported to-day that the betrothal of the Princess Giovanna, twenty-three-year-old daughter of the King of Italy, and King Boris of Bulgaria, known as the "Bachelor King," would be announced at once.

DUPRE WILL LEAD GROUP IN LONDON

Canada's Solicitor-General Is Chairman of Arbitration and Disarmament Committee

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Oct. 3.—Hon. Maurice Dupre, Canadian Solicitor-General, has been appointed chairman on the Imperial Conference committee on disarmament.

The appointment was made at a meeting of delegations at No. 10 Downing Street to-day. One of the questions before this committee will be the consideration of arbitration for settlement of international disputes. The optional clause of the statute of the court of international justice—the World Court—which has already been accepted by Great Britain and the Dominions, provides for arbitration only in the case of justifiable disputes, such as interpretation of a treaty.

MANION TO CHURCHILL

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—En route to Churchill, Man., on an inspection trip, Hon. R. J. Manion, Dominion Minister of Railways and Canals, passed through Winnipeg to-day.

Dr. Manion will review progress made in construction of rail and harbor facilities at the Hudson Bay port.

MEXICO INCREASES TARIFF ON FRUIT

Mexico City, Oct. 3.—In response to requests of Mexican fruit growers, the government has increased the tariff on fresh and dried fruit by 200 per cent. Mexican growers asserted that imports constituted unjustified competition and threatened the development of the Mexican fruit growing industry.

Grapes, apples, pears and peaches are among the principal fruit imports.

Australia Falls In Line As Neimeyer Delivers Ultimatum

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters's Canberra, Australia, Oct. 3.—The Federal Cabinet has agreed to reduce the expenditure of the Commonwealth by £4,000,000 in accordance with the recommendations of the report submitted by Sir Otto Neimeyer, Bank of England financial expert.

Prime Minister James Scullin approved the decision of the ministers in a radio phone conversation from London.

It is understood the chairman of the Commonwealth Bank attended the cabinet meeting which made the decision and delivered a virtual ultimatum regarding financial policy, especially demanding the reduction of the salaries of civil servants on a sliding scale.

When the cuts are submitted to the Labor party caucus it is expected they will be rejected and the government will face a serious situation involving its own fate.

FATALLY INJURED
Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Terribly injured in an accident at Britannia Mines, Thursday afternoon, Carl Rasmussen, aged twenty, miner of Britannia Beach, died at 2 a.m. in the General Hospital.

GUTHRIE HEADS CIVIL AVIATION AT CONFERENCE

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Oct. 3.—Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Canadian Minister of Justice, was to-day appointed chairman of the Imperial Conference's committee on civil aviation.

Canadians thus head two of the important conference committees, Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, being chairman of the arbitration committee.

TO HARNESS THE SEA TO DO WORLD'S WORK

Professor Georges Claude, a French scientist, has worked out experiments which indicate that a great new source of energy may soon be opened for humanity. It has to do with the difference in ocean temperatures caused by the Gulf Stream.

How the professor proposes to put this latent energy to work by means of a mile-long tube to the ocean's bottom he now has ready, will be told in an illustrated article in the Magazine Section of The Victoria Daily Times to-morrow.

Other features of the Saturday Magazine Section will include:

Puffin Harbor and Salt Spring Island that are brought closer to Victoria as a result of the new ferry service.
A peep into nature's scolding room with Robert Connell.
Mid-day at Goldstream.
Fifth instalment of the life story of Lon Chaney.
The boyhood friendships of Premier R. B. Bennett which brought him his millions of dollars.

An adventure story on scaling the icy cliffs of Mont Blanc.
An illustrated page of new personal and home fashions.
The regular weekly page for the children.
New books and comment.
A week-end page of late news from across the Atlantic.
And the four-page colored comic section.

Common Purpose, Work Together, Says Bennett

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 3.—Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada forecast at the opening of the Imperial Conference the scheme he will put forward early next week for trade development, when he said: "We have a common purpose and it would be strange, indeed, if, by our united determination to achieve it, there should not follow on our action that same high measure of success, which in the days gone by, has crowned our joint and steadfast efforts. I do not propose to-day to develop my considered views as to that scheme of co-operation which holds the surest promise of real and lasting advantage to all the states of the Empire. At the appropriate stage in these proceedings I shall offer them to the conference."

R-101 READY TO LEAVE ON INDIA FLIGHT

Great British Airship Will Carry Fifty-three People on Notable Trip

Lord Thomson and Sir Sefton Brancker Will Be Aboard Dirigible

By THOS. T. CHAMBERLAIN, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Oct. 3.—R-101, big sister of the airship that visited Canada in August, is expected to start for India to-morrow with fifty-three persons on board.

Besides the crew, the giant vessel, largest airship in the world, will carry Lord Thomson, Governor-General of India, Sir Sefton Brancker, director of civil aviation; Wing Commander R. B. Colmore and Lieut.-Col. Richmond.

Major G. H. Scott, designer of the airship, will also go along, as will the most spacious accommodations of any airship yet built, much on the same lines as the arrangements of the R-100.

She will halt at Ismailia for refueling, the Egyptian port having a complete mooring tower similar to those at Cardington and St. Hubert, Montreal.

At Karachi, her destination, there is a large housing hanger, in addition to the mooring mast, this shed being the largest building in the British Empire.

The exact route will be determined according to the weather conditions prevailing to-morrow.

TOLMIE GIVES SCHEME FOR RELIEF FUNDS

B.C.'s Contribution Will Be Raised By Special Warrant, He Says

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Funds for British Columbia's contribution to unemployment relief and special public works will be raised by special warrant, Premier S. F. Tolmie announced to-day.

Legal opinion on this procedure has been asked, but Dr. Tolmie said he had no doubt that unemployment was a special emergency of the type implied in the provisions for obtaining special warrant.

A special warrant is an authorization by the Lieutenant-Governor to the administration to raise and spend money not voted by the Legislature.

The warrant is later submitted to the people's representatives for approval. Dr. Tolmie said it was not considered advisable at this stage to make public the amount.

Eighty Thousand Tribesmen Migrate In Northern Africa

Bengazi, Cirenaica, Africa, Oct. 3.—One of the greatest forced migrations of people in recent centuries has just been completed with utmost secrecy in the hinterlands of Cirenaica and Tripoli, North Africa.

Eighty thousand tribesmen with 600,000 head of cattle, tents, provisions and household goods have been moved to the Mediterranean coast in an effort to combat the powerful rebel tribe of Omar El Muctar in the Gebel district.

Through the enforced migration, General Graziani, Italian military chief in the area, hopes to cut off the tribesmen from food and supplies, munitions, recruits, animals and the traditional tribe of one-tenth of the possessions of surrounding tribes which they heretofore have been forced to pay as tribute.

Omar El Muctar is strongly entrenched in the difficult terrain of Gebel in the midst of hills and woods. Caravans of two of which are manned by Fascist militia are penetrating through the desert plains of Marjuria and surrounding Omar El Muctar's position.

The Ministry of War and of Colonies announced to-day that the migration was an accomplished fact. The tribesmen, surrounded by colonial troops, moved on their own camels hundreds of miles over desert land to the coast. Wells had been prepared and vast tracts of land set aside for them where their cattle can graze. They will live on the coast through out the winter.

GOVERNMENT SILENT ON BOND ISSUE

Ottawa Declines to Comment Upon N.Y. Report of Canadian $100,000,000 Issue

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Officials of the Department of Finance to-day declined either to confirm or deny a news dispatch from New York that negotiations have been completed for a new issue of Canadian Government four per cent bonds, to the amount of $100,000,000.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister, who administered the finance department since his government assumed office, in England, Hon. E. B. Ryckman, acting Minister of Finance, is in Toronto. In the absence of minister and acting minister, officials of the department will not comment on the New York announcement, such comment, if any, they state, must come from the minister.

As stated in the dispatch, Canada has bond issues totaling $122,000,000, which will mature within a year. On December 1 next bonds to the sum of $45,000,000 will mature. Four months later, on April 1, 1931, there are $20,000,000 of bonds to mature. West October a large issue of $33,000,000 falls due. Up to the present time there has been no announcement as to how the government proposes to meet these maturities although the matter has doubtless been receiving careful consideration. There is, of course, no particular hurry about the bonds which mature in October, 1931, but if the government saw a good opportunity for obtaining funds now, it would probably act.

The usual practice is for the Finance Department to refrain from making any announcement in respect to refunding operations until they are completed. This practice will probably be followed in the present instance.

SHOCKED BY NEWS
Rev. W. W. Cash, the society's secretary, said that up until to-day he had been entertained for release of the two, and that to-day's message of their death had come as a great shock.

"Miss Harrison and Miss Nettleton," he said, "were captured by bandits when, acting under consular orders, they were sent down the river from their station at Chungking to Foochow."

The bandits boarded the steamer and took them off, and since then the remaining efforts have been made by the British Consul, Church Missionary Society, missionaries and the Chinese Church for their release.

It was hoped these efforts would be successful and the news received this morning came as a great blow to society and will to-day's message of their death had come as a great shock.

"Both the consul and secretary of the Church Missionary Society in Foochow were given full authority and an entirely free hand to pay the ransom if necessary in order to secure their release."

DRUG STORE WAGES TO BE RE-EXAMINED
Druggists—Secure Complete Review of Wage Board's Order

Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald will entirely rehear the evidence upon which the Male Minimum Wage Board ordered that licentiate in pharmacy be paid a wage of eighty cents an hour, with the Wage Board recognized as the official respondents to the appeal filed by the employing druggists. His Lordship this morning assigned 10 o'clock on Tuesday, October 31, as the time of the initial hearing, expressing the hope that two or three days would be sufficient for the review. He regretted that his efforts to attain agreement for a more limited inquiry had been unsuccessful.

Peiping, China, Oct. 3.—Messages reaching the British Consul at Foochow to-day said that Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor June Harrison, British missionaries who were captured last July by Communists at Chungking, northern Fukien province, had been shot.

Their execution followed failure of protracted negotiations for their release, in the course of which the bandits cut off one of Miss Nettleton's fingers and sent it to British consular authorities as a grim reminder of their death threats if ransom money of $100,000 was not paid.

The two women, who were associated with the church missionary society, were traveling from Chungking to Foochow when they were captured. It was understood here that the British authorities were waiting for the details before taking any further action.

Although the consular authorities are attempting to verify the dual killing, there appears no reason to doubt truth of the report. Only last week a letter was received insisting that the women would be killed unless the ransom money was forthcoming.

LONDON AROUSED
London, Oct. 3.—The public generally and missionary circles particularly to-day were deeply moved by advice that Chinese Communist bandits had killed the two British missionaries, Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor June Harrison, in lieu of ransom for their release.

Miss Nettleton worked in a carpet mill in her home town of Halifax, Yorkshire, and was a Sunday school teacher. She went out to China for the Church Missionary Society in 1908 and spent most of her time at Chungking working among women and girls. She was home on furlough last year.

Miss Harrison was from Cooley, near Kidderminster. She was sixty-three years old and went to China for the Church Missionary Society three years ago after she returned home to live with her mother, but last year, upon her mother's death, she volunteered to return to China and work with Miss Nettleton.

BULDER OF POWELL RIVER PASSES AWAY

M. J. Scanlon, Pioneer Lumberman of Minneapolis, Died Yesterday

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 3.—M. J. Scanlon, pioneer lumberman, who aided in establishing a model village for his workmen at Powell River, British Columbia, died yesterday at his home here. He was sixty-nine years old.

The village was built in connection with Mr. Scanlon's plant there, devoted to manufacturing newspaper, and it has homes for several thousand persons.

Mr. Scanlon was president of the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Company here; the Brooks-Scanlon Corporation in Florida; the Bahamas-Cuban Company, and the Powell River Company, British Columbia.

A widow and a daughter survive.

IMMUNITY OF ANIMALS AND PLANTS LINKED

Cannot Discuss Them Separately, Declares Dr. William Newton

Potatoes Should Not Be Planted Immediately They Are Cut, He Says

Dr. William Newton, plant pathologist at the Saskatchewan Experimental Farm, gave a very interesting address on "Immunity," before the North Saskatchewan Horticultural Society yesterday evening in which he stated studies of plant and animal immunity were inseparable. "I shall not attempt to discuss separately plant and animal immunity, for each year it becomes more and more evident that the behavior of the plant and animal is similar fundamentally," said Dr. Newton. "An illustrative case might be cited in the brilliant researches upon Chlorophyll and Haemoglobin. The former is the green pigment of plants and the latter is the red pigment of the blood. Recent researches show that the plant's green pigment and the red pigment from the blood are closely related. Both yield the same products, porphyrin, when they are broken down in the laboratory. In view of these researches it is not surprising that physicians are using concentrated extracts of the green plant pigment as an immunizing and curative agent against pernicious anemia. A century ago, in any thickly populated centre, a report of smallpox, diphtheria or typhoid struck terror in the hearts of the people. Living in this age, it is difficult for us to realize the loss of life that followed an outbreak of these diseases a century ago. The development of immunizing methods has removed the dread of these diseases. The marvelous progress that has been made in the science of immunology is a sufficient basis to ask for your support in the extension of these studies.

ANTIBODIES

"The immunizing of animals and humans against disease is based upon the fact that bacteria or foreign protein that gain entrance to the blood, stimulate the body cells to excrete antibodies, substances that unite or react with the bacteria or proteins rendering them harmless. The body cells produce a distinct antibody for each bacteria that enters the blood. We are in doubt as to the identity of two organizations, we prove their identity by determining whether the antibody formed in the body cells against one will react against the other. When the antibody fails to react with one, we know that the organisms are distinct. The relationship of microscopic organisms can be determined more accurately by the use of this method than by any other. You have all read detective stories where the all read detective stories where the blood on the coat was from the murderer man or from a beefsteak. Such a test can easily be made, for it is based upon the formation of a specific antibody that will react with the bodies. The local nature of plant disease infection is indirect proof of antibody formation. The spotting of the foliage of plants may be interpreted by assuming that the cells produce antibodies that surround the point where the disease enters; thus arresting the progress of the disease. The studies in progress upon immunity in the plant kingdom are likely to prove of great importance both in plant disease control and in medicine.

"Physicians claim that people with oily skins are not susceptible to many skin diseases. Plants with oily skins are not susceptible to many fungus diseases. It is a common practice among gardeners to select their rose plants upon this basis. They have discovered that roses with shiny leaves are less susceptible to rose mildew and rust. The shine is due to a waxy substance. The waxy substance covers the surface of all leaves, but it is thicker on leaves that appear to be varnished. This substance is generated within the tissue of the plant as a thin oil, and it diffuses outward, and upon reaching the surface of the plant, contact with the air converts the oil into a solid wax. The study of the formation of this cutin has been of practical value as a guide in the handling of potato sets. If potatoes are planted in heavy soil, the soil as they are cut, a large percentage will rot, for the potato rot organism can enter the cut surface. If they are stored after cutting in a dark, well ventilated chamber, in the dark, a continuous cutin layer will form over the cut surface, and this protective wax will prevent the potato rot organism from entering the sets. Light, poor ventilation, or a dry atmosphere, are factors which prevent the formation of this protective layer. "Distinct rusts attack a great variety of plants, and they almost invariably enter the plant through the stomata, tiny openings in the leaves of the plants. Narrow wheat is immune to rust because the openings are too small for the rust fungus to enter. The stomata usually close in the daytime and open at night, hence, infection normally takes place at night. Moisture also enters the plant through the stomata. Many people reduce the amount of infection through rust and mildew in their gardens by keeping the plants as dry as possible at night.

"Many disease fungi secrete enzymes or ferments which dissolve or rot the plant tissue. While in the south, I was in touch with an investigation upon the cause of immunity to gummosis, a bacterial disease of the bark of lemon trees. Some varieties of lemons were immune to this disease. It was found that the bark of immune varieties contained a substance that would destroy the disease organism. This was an important discovery for all promising stocks could be tested in the laboratory, by dropping a small section of bark of each variety into a test solution containing the disease organism. Too often we plant trees that appear to be desirable, only to find when the tree is full grown that it is very susceptible to some disease.

CHEMICAL IMMUNITY

"An investigation is in progress at the University of Alberta of a case of chemical immunity. A wheat plant was found to be immune from rust attacks, and by analysis Dr. Anderson found that it contained substances closely related to phenol, the carbolic acid of the drug store. Carbolic acid is one of the commonest disinfectants, and until the results of the Alberta investigation were published no one suspected that plants generated this compound as a protection against disease. Mr. Foster, the provincial pathologist at the Saskatchewan laboratory, is assisting in this investigation. Our work on chemical immunity has been confined to downy mildew of the hop. This disease is very serious in British Columbia, Washington and Oregon, and is the most important disease of the hop in Great Britain and Germany. A variety known as Fuggies is immune to the disease. Our studies so far suggest that this variety contains a substance that is toxic or poisonous to the mildew disease. Time has not permitted a detailed report, but it is possible that eventually it will be possible to assay seedling hops to ascertain their degree of resistance to this disease.

"The majority of plants are more susceptible to disease in their seedling stage than later. There is a common disease of mangos and beets, both on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland. It is known commonly as Pioma betae wilt. A fairly satisfactory control may be affected by thinning out all the seedlings that show evidence of the wilt, and the healthy seedlings that remain will produce a normal crop. In practice the growers block as the usual time, but they delay the thinning operation so that the disease symptoms only become apparent after the seedlings have been planted. Although this disease sometimes attacks older plants, in general beets are almost immune after the seedling stage is passed. We found that hop leaves become less susceptible to the mildew as they mature. This is of practical importance, for when spraying little attention need be paid to the lower leaves of the hop.

INDUCED IMMUNITY

"Partial immunity may be induced by skillful fertilization. In general, phosphate tends to ripen the wood of plants, thus creating a plant structure that is more resistant to attack from insects and diseases. On the other hand, stimulate rapid growth and, in general, lower the resistance of plants to rusts and mildews. However, one has to use common sense in the choice of fertilizers. An excess of nitrates may increase the susceptibility of the plant to disease, but there are few soils that have an adequate natural supply of nitrates.

"We are studying an interesting case of immunity. Hollyhock become more resistant to rust if they are watered with a solution of copper sulfate. This is according to Erickson. The case is under investigation at the laboratory because there are few cases where plants have been immunized against disease. Copper is quite toxic to plants, consequently it cannot be used at greater concentrations than three pounds in 100 gallons of water. As possible immunizing agents, we are looking for substances that are less toxic to the plant and more toxic to plant disease than copper. Such a substance must be cheap enough so that it can be used by the practical grower.

"As the outcome of our studies upon the immunity of the Fuggies variety of hops to downy mildew, we discovered that commercial pine resin was toxic to the mildew disease. The Fuggies variety of hops was found to have a higher content of hop resin than the other commercial hop varieties, and it is well known that hop resin has antiseptic properties. Hops are added to beer partly to impart the characteristic bitter flavor of hops and partly to prevent spoilage. It is of interest that the antiseptic action of hop resin is a measure of its quality for beer making. Mr. Yarwood, who was working on this problem, decided to investigate the antiseptic properties of hop resin. Pine resin, for most plant resins have antiseptic properties. He secured positive evidence that pine resin was toxic to the spores of downy mildew. These investigations have been practical growers have led to the incorporation of resin in the K-S-resin spray, developed by the Saskatchewan Laboratory, owing to the toxicity of pine resin to a plant variety of plant diseases.

GENETIC IMMUNITY

"There is always a chance that a seedling is immune to the important diseases in the district. The prairie provinces will soon be supplied with a number of productive varieties of wheat that are immune to rust. A long series of researches has resulted in the development of varieties of wheat that are resistant to rust, which possess the other qualities that the farmer and miller require. It is very easy to find a disease-resistant plant as a starting point in the breeding of new varieties, but the plant breeder usually discovers that it is difficult to combine disease resistance with the other plant qualities required by the farmer. The practical grower can accomplish a great deal by selection. Even a normally self-fertilized plants there is always some chance of crossing. When you select a thrifty raspberry plant you may select, unwittingly, a new variety that is immune against virus disease infection. This would be a find, for we estimate that virus diseases of raspberries in B.C. lower the productivity of the raspberry areas at least twenty-five per cent. Then, too, nature sports or produces new types that breed true. The discovery of a thrifty plant in the midst of disease may be worth a large sum of money, if the plant selected proves to be a "sport" and retains its disease-resistant properties in subsequent generations. Already Peters and McGuire of Gordon Head, have made substantial progress in the selection of tomato plants immune to the common greenhouse disease.

Forced Down on Unknown
Lake on Trip From Lac
La Ronge

Canadian Press

Prince Albert, Sask., Oct. 3.—Happy to be rescued from death after twelve days' sojourn with an "Indian" companion in the barren lands of northern Saskatchewan, Harold "Mike" Finland, formerly of Victoria, B.C., headed his monoplane from Lac La Ronge to Prince Albert early Wednesday, only to be threatened by death once more.

The pilot-geologist, rescued last Sunday with his Indian guide by a squadron of search planes after being among the missing for twelve days, two of them foodless, left Lac La Ronge with mechanic Ted Platt for Prince Albert.

Heavy clouds made flying difficult and Finland again was faced with a stern battle with northern weather. Forced to an extremely low altitude by low hanging clouds, he skimmed tree tops and fought the darkness until he succeeded in making a safe landing on an unknown lake.

Another night was spent on the bleak barrens and early this morning the harassed flier returned to Lac La Ronge, leaving his mechanic at the other lake. At Lac La Ronge he removed some of the food carried by the plane and returned to his mechanic safely. After another take-off on the treacherous waters of the little lake he arrived at Prince Albert and civilization.

DRUG STORE WAGES TO BE RE-EXAMINED

In addition to rejecting the protest of Lindley Grease, K.C., for the employing druggists against an official appearance being entered by the Wage Board, His Lordship announced that he could not entertain the view of J. J. Pittman Hogg of Vancouver, who argued for the employers that the wage order was ultra vires of the board, because it limited benefit to a portion of an occupation possessing special qualifications.

The case for maintenance of the Wage Board's order will be conducted by W. H. Haldane and Herbert W. Davey will be given recognition as the representative of the drug clerk, supporting Mr. Haldane.

REASONS FOR RULING

Mr. Justice Macdonald preceded his ruling with an analysis of the appeal, and found it necessary to examine British liquor licensing procedure to determine whether the conditions and precedents he found that the Male Minimum Wage Board was established to suppress the names of complaining employed witnesses and could also initiate inquiries into wages without first receiving formal complaint from employed persons. The facts supported the specific provision in the Act that the Wage Board be served with notice of appeal against its orders. The board would therefore be required to appear in defence of its ruling setting eighty cents as the hourly wage for licentiates in pharmacy.

Dealing with the contention of Mr. Hogg, that the order was applied too narrowly to comply with the terms of the Male Minimum Wage Act, His Lordship found the terms of the order of the British Columbia Court of Appeal which caused the board to hold hearings it had previously refused to do so, in his opinion the board's order complied with the Act and the decision was a reasonable effort to carry out the instruction received from the higher court.

His Lordship announced that the proceedings would take the form of a rehearing de novo because of collapse of efforts he had personally made to induce parties to consent to a condensed inquiry.

CONFERENCE COMMENT

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 3.—The Saturday Review, commenting on the Imperial Conference to-day, alleges that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, in his opening speech, endeavored neatly and deftly to sidetrack the fiscal issue when he said the conference programme would be, first, constitutional, secondly, foreign policy, and thirdly, economic.

"Prime Minister Scullin spoke definitely of Australia and Britain guaranteeing each other markets. Prime Minister Hertzog specifically mentioned South Africa's desire for commonwealth trade agreements. This frankness has naturally alarmed the Liberal and Labor press, which has pretended for months that trade preference was a mere newspaper stunt."

The Review concluded by expressing the opinion that with the free trade liberals only a small and divided minority in the House of Commons, the government could pass any reasonable Empire fiscal policy, because the Conservatives could only suggest amendments on detail. "But Mr. Snowden remains immovable; and Mr. Thomas seems helpless because Premier MacDonald dare not risk Snowden's resignation." The Review added.

COAL MINES ACT TO GIVE LABOR PARTY TROUBLE

London, Oct. 3.—The Government Coal Mines Act, which was enacted last summer after stormy hours in Parliament during which the ministry's life was often threatened, is apparently to cause the MacDonald Ministry trouble again.

This time the difficulty has arisen through refusal of the coal mine owners to take their allotted part in the National Industrial Board it established to consider disputes, wages, etc. The board was to have seventeen members, but the Miners' Association, representing the mine owner, have failed to appoint their representation. The owners' abstention does not prevent operation of the act, but does threaten to put the entire machinery out of gear and to create serious difficulty for the government.

London, Oct. 3.—Injury of four post office officials and the wrecking of a truck by a mysterious explosion was investigated to-day by Scotland Yard and postal department executives. The explosion occurred in the General office sorting station at Mount Pleasant, central London.

The Evening Standard says it understands that the mail bag in which the explosion occurred contained some letters addressed to Buckingham Palace.

MENNONITES ON TRAGIC TREK
FROM UKRAINE

Crushed By Soviet, Large
Bodies Start Exodus From Russia

By Josephine Hambleton, Canadian
Press Staff Writer

Paris, Oct. 3.—Soviet Russia is writing another tragic chapter in the exodus of the Mennonites from their land. Some months ago 30,000 Mennonites were collected in a forest on the outskirts of Moscow, awaiting permission to leave the territory of the Soviet Republic. Their land had been expropriated. Their rights granted by Peter the Great and Catherine had been repudiated, and their goods had been dispersed. In spite of difficulties and a charge imposed on migrants of $150 for a passport, about 4,000 Mennonites reached the German frontier, mostly on foot. They found shelter in an abandoned military camp. The Red Cross kept them in starvation. Stubbornly they put aside other projects, determined to reach Canada, where the advance guard of their movement had landed in 1925 and 1926. Separated, they had they would be lost. They had settled in Russia in 1701. Their numbers had grown to 3,000,000, chiefly in the Ukraine, and they had helped to make it one of the richest wheat belts in Russia.

SOVIET DECREES

In the meantime the centralized economic system of the Soviets spread inexorably from the cities to the country. Soviet commissioners issued these decrees:

1. Enrollment of the Mennonite youths in the Red Army.
2. Inventory and seizure of the summer's crops and stocks of cereals.
3. Order to speak Russian and teach it in the schools.
4. Prohibition of old agricultural methods and obligation to follow Soviet organization of agriculture.

The Mennonites resolved to quit the inhospitable country en masse. The Soviet government began its measures of repression.

All authorization to leave the country has now been definitely refused. The Soviet is demanding that the German government deport the Mennonites who are encamped at Konigsberg. There, under the most heart-rending conditions, these unfortunate people have for months been waiting for a chance to get to Canada. But the Soviets are inflexible. They consider the Mennonite fugitives as Russian citizens who must answer for insubordination. For the Mennonites, return to Russia means the abandonment of all hope. It is tantamount to a decree of extermination.

Dentist of Toronto
Robbed By Bandits

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Two youthful bandits walked into the office of Dr. R. A. Wright, dentist, yesterday, thrust a gun into his back, took $100 in cash from his pockets and left him bound and gagged.

The robbers gave their victim little chance to escape or give warning to passersby on the street. Sardonically they told him to keep quiet, adding he could blame the incident on "your government." Prior to leaving they ripped the telephone from the wall.

Settlement Plan
For Whites In South Africa

Canadian Press

Queenstown, South Africa, Oct. 3.—New settlements for white men in South Africa were suggested yesterday by General Edward J. Higgins, head of the Salvation Army, as a possible outcome of the Imperial Conference in London. He expressed the earnest hope the conference would favor Empire expansion, by which he meant the creation of opportunities for a larger number of people to become prosperous, contented and happy.

General Higgins said he was deeply concerned about the "poor whites" problem in South Africa. But when he suggested putting them on the land, he remarked, he met the pessimistic query: "Where could they find a market for their produce?" It was forgotten that new settlements created within themselves a market for their own produce, he added. "On what other lines could America or Canada have been settled?" he asked.

HARDWARE
1111 DOUGLAS STREETHOOVER SAYS
DEPRESSION IS BUT TEMPORARY

Expansion of Public Works and Railway and Industrial Construction Soundest Method of Unemployment Relief, U.S. President Tells American Bankers' Association.

Cleveland, Oct. 3.—President Hoover chided those who take a pessimistic view of the future of business last evening in reiterating his own opinion the depression is but temporary. Addressing the fifty-sixth annual convention of the American Bankers' Association, he told the members duration of unfavorable economic conditions will be shortened largely to the degree that you feel you can prudently, by counsel and specific assistance, instill into your clients from industry, agriculture and commerce a feeling of assurance.

LONG-VIEW STABILITY
Expressions of confidence in the country's future prefaced the President's discussion of the problem of immediate recovery and that of "long-view business stability."

"There are a few folks in business and several folks in the political world," he said, "who resent the notion that things will ever get better and who wish to enjoy our temporary misery. To recount to these persons the progress of co-operation between the people and the government in amelioration of this situation, or to mention that we are suffering far less than other countries, or that savings are piling up in the banks, or that our people are paying off instalment purchases, that abundant capital is now pressing for new ventures and employment, only inspires the unkind retort that we should fix our gaze solely upon the unhappy features of the decline."

"And, above all, to chide the pessimism of persons who have assumed the end of those mighty forces which for 180 years have driven this land further and further toward that great human goal—the abolition of intellectual and economic poverty—is perhaps not a sympathetic approach. Nevertheless, I always have been, and I remain, an unquenchable believer in the resilient, dynamic power of American enterprise. This is no time—an audience of American leaders of business is no place—to talk of any surrender."

Mr. Hoover said inquiry might develop the present capital gains tax encourages inflation by strangling the free movement of land and securities. He also cited the hearing of the regulatory functions of the Federal and State Governments on the subject of business stability, mentioning their effect on the financial strength of railroads and utilities.

SOUNDTEST METHOD
"During a period of depression," he said, "the soundest and most available method of relief to unemployment is expansion of public works and construction in to utilities, railways and heavy industries. The volume of possible expansion of construction in these private industries is about four or five times that of public works."

"During the present depression these industries have done their full part, but especially the railways have been handicapped by some provisions of the transportation act of 1920. With wider public vision the railways could be strengthened into a greater balance wheel of stability. We have need to consider all constructive legislation, whether banking, utilities or agriculture, or anything else, from the point of view of its effect upon business institutions. The government can and must cure abuses."

The President praised what the bankers have done toward ameliorating the business situation, and continued: "At this juncture the responsibility of those in control of money and credit is great. Without faith on your part and without your good offices, the early return to full prosperity cannot be accomplished."

MANITOBA TO START WORKS
FOR RELIEFHon. W. R. Clubb Announces
Programme on Return to Winnipeg From Ottawa

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 3.—Highly satisfied with the result of conferences with the Dominion Government with regard to obtaining unemployment relief for Manitoba, Hon. W. R. Clubb, Minister of Public Works, last evening announced that construction projects will be started in the province as soon as details have been arranged with municipalities concerned. Mr. Clubb who, with Premier John Bracken presented Manitoba's claim at Ottawa, arrived home last evening. "We asked for $2,000,000 and got $1,200,000," he said. "Naturally, we would have been more pleased had we been assured of obtaining all that was requested, but that was perhaps too much to expect in view of the demands of other provinces."

"It will enable us to go ahead at an early date with a lot of important work that has been urgent for some time. It is necessary work, it will be of a permanent character, and it will be most beneficial," commented the Public Works Minister.

A provincial by-election in Bellefleur County will be held on October 20, it was announced.

LEW QUE IS FORCED OUT OF CASSIAR AREA

Wrangell, Alaska, Oct. 3.—Motor transports, many times faster than the voyageur crews that poled miners and traders and their supplies up rivers of the famous Cassiar district, threw Lew Que out of a job. Highly indignant, and said by Canadian police to be slightly deranged, the aged Chinaman paraded through here to-day under escort. He is ejected from the country of the first northern gold boom where he lived as prospector, miner and cook for more than fifty years.

In later years Lew Que cooked in Hudson's Bay Company voyageur crew camps on the Dease River. The boats which were poled upstream about twelve miles a day are now replaced by trucks that easily cover 150 miles and more in the same time and the camps have vanished. Lew Que was brought to northern British Columbia from China by his father. He is being escorted by Sergeant McNell of the British Columbia police.

REVOLVER ONLY
LOOT SECURED
IN BANK RAID

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 3.—Yeggmen raided the Royal Bank of Canada branch at Wainwright, Alberta, Wednesday night, but were foiled by the stoutness of a safe.

The shot of explosive failed to wreck the strong box, and the would-be robbers left with nothing but a revolver, picked up in the manager's office, as reward for the evening's effort. One shot ripped away a heavy hinge, another gouged out the combination lock, a third ripped off the handle, but the safe successfully withstood the assault. Cutting tools were used in a final vain attempt to take off the remaining hinge, then the crackmen gave up the job.

QUARREL ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Montreal, Que., Oct. 3.—Eighteen hours after the body of her husband had been removed from the Lachine Canal, Mrs. Charbonneau, twenty-seven, died in the Montreal General Hospital yesterday from the effects of head wounds said by the police to have been inflicted with a bottle.

The couple, married less than eight weeks, had separated. A theory held by the police is that Charbonneau visited her wife at her lodging house and beat her over the head with a bottle during a quarrel. Fearing he had killed her he ended his life in the canal.

TRIAL MARRIAGE IN SMALL TOWN MAKES
PLENTY OF COMEDY

Introduction of the idea of "trial marriage" in a small, old-fashioned community causes all sorts of hilarious complications in Universal's "Embarrassing Moments," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre. Reginald Denny is starred, the cast including Merna Kennedy, Otis Harlan, William Austin, Virginia Sale, Oreta Granstedt and Mary Foy. The picture was directed by William James Craft. Showing on the same bill is "Call of the West."

Where To Go To-night

ON THE SCREEN

Capitol—Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook in "Anybody's Woman." Coliseum—Dolores Del Rio in "The Bad One." Columbia—"So Long Letty," starring Charlotte Greenwood. Dominion—John McCormack in "Song of My Heart." Playhouse—"Embarrassing Moments," featuring Reginald Denny. Crystal Garden—Swimming and Dancing.

pictures should see this picture before its close on Saturday evening. In this audible picture McCormack sings eleven songs, logically introduced in the action of the delightful lyrical romance. Through the medium of Fox movie-tone the voice that has always been proclaimed great is faithfully reproduced.

The love interest is beautifully enacted by Maureen O'Sullivan and John Garrick. Other members in the fine support include Alice Joyce, J. M. Kerrigan, Farrell Macdonald and Tommy Clifford.

PAUL LUKAS HAS IMPORTANT ROLE
AT THE CAPITOL

Paul Lukas has an important role in "Anybody's Woman," the Paramount picture in which Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook are co-starred at the Capitol Theatre all this week. Lukas plays the part of a wealthy New York merchant who befriends Brook but who later makes love to Miss Chatterton, who is seen as Brook's wife.

It is one of those not-too-bad "bad man" roles that seems to fit the Lukas capabilities like a glove. His part in "Anybody's Woman" came after he signed a new contract with Paramount-Publix. He has been seen in such successes as "The Wolf of Wall Street," "Halfway to Heaven," "Young Eagles," "The Benson Murder Case," "Grumpy," and the current production at the Capitol Theatre.

Lukas was a star for several seasons on the stage in Budapest, Berlin and Vienna. He came to the United States to play a role opposite Pola Negri in "Loves of an Actress" and enacted parts in several other silent films.

EDMUND LOWE IS AT THE COLISEUM
IN "THE BAD ONE"

Edmund Lowe, appearing with Dolores Del Rio in her first United Artists talking and singing picture, "The Bad One," showing at the Coliseum Theatre, enacts the same type of role that made him world-famous in "What Price Glory," "In Old Arizona" and "The Looey-eyed World."

In "The Bad One" Lowe is seen as a man who is not for money and adventure, but for women. Miss Del Rio departs from her usual characterizations in the picture to portray the role of a Marseilles waterfront entertainer.

POPULAR COMEDIAN
AT THE COLUMBIA
IN FINE FEATURE

Bert Roach, the rather chubby comedian who plays a featured role in "So Long Letty," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone version of the famous stage farce, now playing at the Columbia Theatre, has contributed several comedy hits to the screen recently that have brought him popularity and good notices.

In "Young Nowheres," with Richard Barthelmess, he gave a priceless impersonation of an inebriated gentleman. Everybody who sees this picture chuckles over his performance. In "The Time, the Place and the Girl," he also distinguished himself in a comedy role. And now his performance in "So Long Letty" tops them all. It is a clowning treat.

TWIGG URGES PATIENCE FOR
UNEMPLOYMENTMember Asks People to Help
One Another During Present
DepressionR. A. Wootton Unanimously
Re-elected President of Victoria
Conservatives

Victoria Conservatives at the annual association meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce last night unanimously re-elected R. A. Wootton as their president.

H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., dealing with the unemployment problem, pleaded for patience of the people, and urged all people to help one another during the present period of world depression, and show loyalty to the Provincial and Dominion Governments. He expressed hope that the Imperial Conference would settle the economic and commercial destiny of the Empire.

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, apologized for the inability of Premier Tolmie to attend the meeting, as he was to have explained the proposals in regard to the expenditures for the relief of unemployment. On educational matters, he spoke of the new high school course, which, he declared, would be beneficial to pupils not going to the university.

AIDS VETERANS' CHILDREN

As for the aid of the provincial government toward the education of children of returned soldiers, the minister said that eighty-two such children are now benefiting under the plan and that $12,000 is being distributed to the parents of these children, to help them over the most difficult period of their life. Awards made yesterday under this plan, as passed at the last session of the Legislature, have exhausted the appropriation for this work this year.

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., dealt with the work of sitting members of the Legislature. He explained how busy members have been engaged in attending executive meetings, ward meetings, receiving constituents and sponsoring delegations. He said he could promise an early report on matters affecting the welfare of the city of Victoria.

WOOTTON PRAISES WORKERS

Mr. Wootton, in thanking the meeting for his election, and after giving his annual statement of the association's activities, spoke of the work of the members of the association in bringing about the successes of the party at the recent federal election. He especially thanked members of various committees, and officers of ward associations for their co-operation. Mr. Wootton spoke of the self-sacrifice and energy displayed by the women workers.

OTHERS ELECTED

J. L. Mara was re-elected first vice-president by six votes over Mrs. M. J. Roberts.

Other officers elected were: F. M. Linklater, second vice-president; Major J. G. Macdonald, secretary; and Mrs. J. G. Macdonald, treasurer.

Gray, treasurer of the British Columbia Conservative Association are R. H. Powell, Mrs. Bessie Brown, Mrs. W. Moresby and Gordon Cameron.

Three hundred persons attended.

Langford

The monthly meeting of St. Matthew's Guild was held on Wednesday afternoon at St. John's vicarage. Sewing was done for the Christmas gift sale in November. The members will be guests of Mrs. Horace Simpson, Peatt Lane, for their next meeting. Tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. A. L. Nixon.

Jack Douglas of Toronto, who has been visiting his sister, has returned home.

The evening service in St. Matthew's Church will be at 7 o'clock for the winter months, commencing next Sunday.

Mass will be said in the Roman Catholic chapel on Goldstream Road at 8.30 o'clock on Sunday morning.

J. B. Jeffery, president of the Belmont Egg Pool, and A. Norman Brown, delegate, have been attending the semi-annual meeting of the British Columbia Egg Pool, held in New Westminster.

The Langford Conservative Association was organized on Tuesday evening at a well attended meeting held in the Women's Institute Hall. Officers elected were: Honorary president, Hon. R. B. Bennett; Hon. R. H. Pooley; Hon. S. F. Tolmie and C. H. Dickie. M.P.P. president, T. H. Hayward; first vice-president, George Alkman; second vice-president, D. B. F. Bullen; third vice-president, Mrs. A. C. Bennett; secretary-treasurer, H. C. C. Bennett; executive committee, Mrs. George Alkman, Mrs. W. H. Smith, William H. Smith, P. Douglas, H. Hicks.

The next meeting will be held at Langford Lakeside.

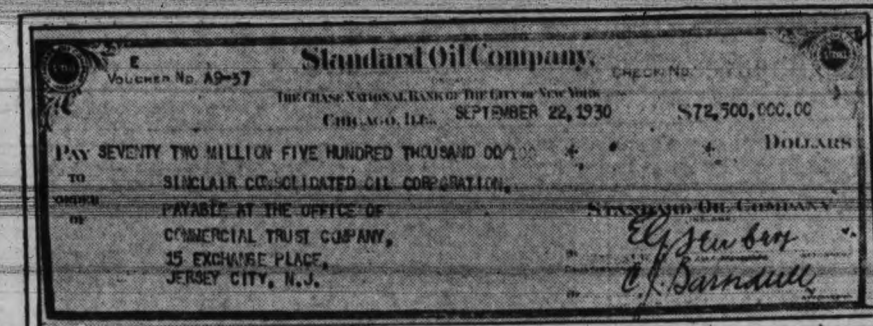

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Macdonald and Miss L. M. A. Savory were guests at the Colwood card party on Wednesday evening.

Members of Langford Tennis Club attending the annual dinner of the Vancouver Island Tennis League are asked to notify Mrs. A. F. Bayles by Monday, October 6. The dinner will take place at the Union Club, Victoria, at 8 o'clock on October 6. The trophy for the highest place in the Tennis League, won by the local club will be presented.

J. Rockingham has been appointed post master at Millstream, replacing H. S. Shibley, who is shortly leaving for Saanich.

Kenneth Sellens of Vancouver has been spending a vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Sellens, Station Road.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO CASH THIS CHEQUE AT THE BANK?

"Seventy-two million five hundred thousand dollars." That was the tidy little sum written down on the cheque reproduced above when two big oil magnates met to do business at Jersey City, N.J., the other day. They were Edward G. Seibert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and E. W. Sinclair, president of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation. The Sinclair Company was selling its half interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company and the Sinclair Pipe Line Company.

WOUNDED MAN WILL LOSE POST

Tientsin, China, Oct. 3.—Bertram Lenox Simpson, British born Chinese rebel customs collector here, who was dangerous wounded by three assassins, will lose his post in the customs department.

It was said to-day that his staff would regular staff, headed by Mr. Grierson, would resume their functions.

Considerable importance has been attached to what action Chang Hsueh Liang, Manchurian governor, who has mediated; Mrs. Batten (Sooke), songs and recitations; Mr. Grey, tenor solo; A. Rigby, Scotch comedian, and H. Latham, pianist. Capt. Colthurst moved the vote of thanks.

Mrs. Dicks of Victoria is staying with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dicks of Sunnyside.

Mrs. W. Cairns, who for several weeks has been in hospital, as the result of an accident, is home again and making satisfactory progress.

Mrs. Duke of Ty-Collwyn is staying with friends in Victoria.

taken over Peiping and Tientsin, would take in this matter, since the discharge of Simpson and resumption of the old customs authority might be considered as implying a more certain assistance to Nanking than has hitherto been considered the case.

No clues have been discovered as to the identity of the men who attacked Simpson.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS
MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Paracetamol (double strength) and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dripping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Adv.)

LOCAL WOMEN MAKE WOOLLIES FOR ROYAL BABY

Tiny Garments For Princess Margaret Rose on View To-day

Victoria Institute Women Complete Order For North Vancouver I.O.D.E.

"Dainty enough for a Princess!" This hackneyed comment was invested with a real significance this afternoon at the social meeting of the Victoria Women's Institute when many interested members and friends had the privilege of viewing the "woollies" which have been knitted to the order of an I.O.D.E. chapter in North Vancouver and destined for presentation to the new daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, the Princess Margaret Rose.

The chapter hopes to be given the privilege of naming their newly formed chapter after the baby Princess, with the consent of the royal parents.

Light as thistledown and fluffy as the down of baby chicks, the tiny set of coat, bonnet, and booties are fashioned of white wool from the fur of Angora rabbits reared by Mrs. E. Simmonds of 395 St. Charles Street. Mrs. E. F. Arnold, a member of the Victoria W.I., daintily spun the gossamer-like hairs into wool which is one hundred per cent pure, in contrast to the adulterated wool which is sold in the commercial world as Angora Wool.

Eight ounces of the wool was sufficient for the tiny garments, which were knitted by Mrs. J. S. Adam, the president of the institute, with no. 16 needles in the pearl stitch, her work being of a beautiful fineness and evenness. White satin ribbons to tie the bonnet and coat and threaded through the tiny booties, lend the final touch of daintiness to the beautiful little garments, destined to grace the baby Princess when she opens her eyes upon the world at Glamis Castle, Scotland, recently.

Mrs. Simmonds gave an interesting little talk describing the process of procuring and preparing the wool from the fur of Angora rabbits.

Mrs. W. D. Todd contributed vocal solos which were much enjoyed, and delicious afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Lartion, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. J. S. Adam and Mrs. W. Feden, the hostesses of the afternoon.

Mrs. James Patterson, Belcher Street, entertained at the tea hour on Wednesday afternoon at her home, 100 Belmont Street, Mrs. R. Bell.

Mrs. Parsons of Mexico City will arrive in Victoria on Tuesday afternoon on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Galt, Rockland Avenue.

Miss Millicent Wright of Vancouver and Mrs. J. W. L. Mitchell, B.C., have returned to the mainland after visiting Miss Ethel White here for some days.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McLaren, 404 Linden Avenue, will celebrate their golden wedding to-morrow and will be at home to their friends during the afternoon and evening.

The many friends of Mr. Charles Tennant will be pleased to learn that he is making progress towards recovery after his recent serious operation at the Jubilee Hospital.

Mr. Vivian Bagshaw, Linden Avenue, has left for Vancouver to spend a week as the guest of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Beeson, Pine Crescent.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dawson, Seacroft Apartment, Oak Bay, were among the passengers sailing yesterday afternoon on the Empress of Canada for the Orient. Mr. and Mrs. Dawson will spend the next six months in Shanghai.

Miss Violet Potts of Vancouver is visiting in Victoria as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. L. Mitchell, Fern Street, in honor of whom Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell entertained last evening at their home on Fern Street with several tables of bridge.

Mrs. T. Trotter, Pemberton Road, who has been visiting in California, has returned to Victoria and at present is the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. L. Mitchell, Fern Street.

Mrs. C. B. McAllister of Vancouver, who has been visiting in Victoria for the last three weeks as the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Colonel and Mrs. Lennox Irving, Ford Bay Road, will leave on Sunday for her home on the mainland.

Miss Catherine Coons of Hollywood, who has been visiting with friends in Vancouver, and in Victoria with Mrs. J. A. Lindsay, Rockland Avenue, and with Mrs. H. M. Clark, Fort Street, will leave on Sunday for her home in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Goddard, who have been spending the last ten months in Europe, are en route home to Victoria, and at present are visiting in Chicago as the guests of Goddard's mother, Mrs. Buckingham.

Members and friends of the Royal Arcanum, yesterday evening in the New Thought Hall for the annual dance, about one hundred guests dancing with evident enjoyment to the excellent music furnished by Eric Paver's orchestra. Games and other diversions were also a feature of the evening, which was one of the most successful in the history of the social activities of the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Suddaby of Fernie, who have been visiting in Victoria for the last two weeks as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Watson, Newport Avenue, Oak Bay, and with Mr. Suddaby's mother and sister, Mrs. Suddaby and Mrs. A. Cree, Island Road, Oak Bay, will leave to-morrow night for Vancouver, where they will spend a few days prior to returning to their home in the interior.

One of the richest young men of the United States had left the ranks of bachelorhood when this picture was taken. John Hay Whitney, heir to a $200,000,000 fortune, is pictured above with his bride, Mary Elizabeth Altemus, after their marriage at Falls-of-the-Schuylkill, Pa. The bride was reported to have made the wedding gown herself. After the ceremony, Whitney presented her with a cheque for $100,000 as a wedding gift. Society folk from many parts of the world attended the ceremony.

Mrs. R. C. Pemberton of Victoria is spending a week in Vancouver, visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Adam.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow of "Connemara," Island Highway, Langford, entertained at a charming luncheon party on Tuesday. Covers were laid for twelve and the table prettily decorated with autumn flowers. The guests present were: Mrs. Tom Carls, Mrs. Charles MacLean, Mrs. W. J. Waugh, Mrs. H. O. Kirkham, Mrs. D. P. Fletcher, Mrs. H. Hartnell, Mrs. George Hartnell, Mrs. E. M. Shotbolt and Miss Eileen Shotbolt.

Miss Mollie Hunter entertained at her home, 140 St. Lawrence St., when a party was held in honor of the birthday of Miss Annie Nex. The evening was spent with games and music. A buffet supper was served. The invited guests were Annie Nex, Agnes Anderson, Mildred Bechler, Olive Darby, Evelyn England, Kay Gillis, Elsie La-lam, Edith Rex, Lily Richards, Ty Richards, Mollie Hunter, Messrs. Albert Bainbridge, Dick Bradley, Doug Dakers, Buster England, Buster Evans, Ivan Hancock, Jack Johnson, Eam Macveit, Jim MacCague, Don Warden, Jimmy Wenger.

The home of Mrs. H. Pontifex, 417 Niagara Street, was the scene of a very successful silver tea yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Church of Our Lord, Free Church of England. Mrs. E. Heddie, Mrs. W. G. Monahan and Mrs. F. Shandley had charge of the tea arrangements, which was daintily served from a table centred with combs. An attractive programme included musical items by Mrs. A. N. Baker, Miss H. Ockenden and the Misses Raper and amusing recitations by Rev. T. W. Gladstone. Mrs. A. H. Hanson was in charge of the lawn croquet which proved a popular diversion.

Mrs. H. Clarke, 3220 Oak Street, entertained at a luncheon to a cup and saucer shower in honor of Miss Mary Trowsdale, whose marriage is to take place early in November. The many beautiful gifts were conveyed in a pink and white basket, and was presented to the would-be bride, by dainty little Eileen Clarke. After much merriment, refreshments were served from a table prettily decorated with pink candles and pink and white asters. The bride's cake was mounted with a miniature bride and groom, also the minister. Those invited were: Mrs. Spicer, Mrs. Clarke Sr., Mrs. Norris, Mrs. MacPherson, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Lindell, Mrs. Ralph Clarke, Miss Isaacson, Miss Spouse, Miss Cartwright, Miss O'Neill, Mrs. Trowsdale and Mrs. Wiley.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. E. T. W. WOOD

Mrs. Wood will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

SPEECH DEVELOPMENT SHOULD BE RAPID AFTER ONE YEAR

Talking is one of the baby's most difficult accomplishments. For its development he needs a pattern of clear speech upon which to model his babbling sounds. To make use of this model he must have good hearing. Babies are talked to by their mothers in a language that seems to the mother particularly suited for baby's understanding. How can baby learn adult words unless he hears them used constantly, and his own abortive efforts corrected? If baby is just allowed to babble words in his own manner and the parents make enormous efforts to translate them for him, he has no real incentive to make any further efforts toward intelligibility.

"Oh, we know what she is saying," the mother says proudly when daughter bursts into a stream of commanding and unintelligible syllables. This may be a state pleasing to the mother, but it is a static one for baby.

VOCABULARY AFTER ONE YEAR

The child of one year who can hear well is talked to in an adult manner, and is mentally up to normal, should have four or five words in his vocabulary which he uses with purpose and meaning. From then on the development of the vocabulary is rapid. The child of two is quite capable of talking in two or three word sentences and using an incredible number of different words.

Masquer's Guild Reflects Little Theatre Movement

The announcement of a programme of plays for the coming season by the Masquer's Guild, reflects the little theatre movement to the rapid development of what is often called the Civic Theatre. Sometimes the Community Theatre, and most frequently the Little Theatre Movement.

This has three main purposes which cannot be too much emphasized. First comes the production of plays in communities where otherwise there would be none, so that drama as an art and an educational and spiritual influence shall not die. Secondly there is the opportunity of furnishing an opportunity for self activity and creative work. Last is the idea of creating social centres where people may meet for mutual enjoyment of new interests.

The idea of the Little Theatre was developed to meet the needs of communities where the professional theatre did not fill their dramatic requirements, either as to choice or number of plays. The first step was taken in 1887, under the inspiration of Andre Antoine. In England much newspaper space was given to accounts of his work, and in 1891 Mrs. Stowe established the Independent Theatre in London, which made its first great contribution to English drama by producing the first work of Bernard Shaw, "Widower's House," written at their request.

In Ireland the Abbey Theatre made the effort to revive Irish literature and to encourage new Irish writers. Famous names associated with this theatre include Padraic Colum, St. John Ervine, John Millington Synge, Lady Gregory and William Butler Yeats. On this continent the movement has developed rapidly since the war, presenting plays which would not otherwise be seen in many parts of the country, encouraging progressive experimental idealism in all branches of stagecraft, and giving opportunity for the training of versatile actors.

Chapter Again To Celebrate City's Birthday

The historic date of November 19, the birthday of British Columbia, will be commemorated by Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter as in past years, and preliminary arrangements were made at the meeting of the chapter held yesterday when an interesting programme was outlined for the occasion.

Mrs. Plaketti was given a welcome upon her return to the chapter after her trip to the Old Country. Mrs. E. C. Hayward, educational secretary, reported the business presented during the past month to pupils of the Sir James Douglas and Burnside Schools by the regent, Mrs. R. B. McKicking, who to-day presented two burlesques to pupils of the High School.

A $10 library was voted for an isolated school in the Peace River district, and fifty copies of the I.O.D.E. calendar for 1931 were subscribed for. A donation of $5 was voted to the Blakeburn relief fund, and the chapter will renew the subscription to the League of Nations local branches. A refreshment to be served at the "get-together" meeting of the Municipal Chapter which is to be held on Thursday evening, October 23, at the Y.W.C.A., to which plan the chapter agreed. A contribution was also voted to the challenge cup donated by Municipal Chapter to be competed for by the public school on May 24 each year.

Traveller Day service at Parliament Square at 10 a.m. Tuesday, October 21, was brought to the notice of the chapter and members were asked to attend. Members were asked to assist the Sea Cadets on their tag day, October 11, and to notify Mrs. P. F. Curtis, Prospect Place, of any help they can render that day.

Miss McMullin reported many matters of interest connected with the plans of the Girl Guides' Association. Miss Josephine Crease was appointed the chapter's delegate to the semi-annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter being held in Burnaby on October 18.

Sketch Club.—The Sketch Club of the Island Arts and Crafts met on Monday at Goldstream, where some fine sketches of the woodlands in their autumn tints were obtained. The coming Monday, weather permitting, members will meet at the usual hour on the bridge at Beacon Hill Park. The foliage there is now very beautiful, and the reflections in the lake well worth an afternoon's study.

The friend of growing children

WHEN your children come home from school they are tired. If not noticeably tired physically, nearly always tired or a little fagged mentally and nervously. They are ready for a cup of delicious Ovaltine to restore their spent energy. Indoor confinement during school hours, with its pursuit call for mental concentration, comes at a time in a child's life when Nature is making insistent demands upon his or her strength and vitality... during the days of growth. Recognizing this truth, some schools serve milk to the children at recess time.

Milk is Good—But Ovaltine is Better
Ovaltine is the finest thing in the world for replacing quickly the energy children use up so fast. A sure way to build strong bodies and to maintain rosy-cheeked, glowing health.

Ovaltine is sold at all good stores, in 50c, 75c, $1.25 and special $4.50 family size tins; also served at soda fountains.

NORMAN MANSON NAMED HEAD OF STUDENT BODY

Will Preside at Sessions of Victoria High School Council
Carol Copeland Is Vice-president and Barbara Daniels Secretary

Victoria High School's Student Council, the ruling body on all school activities, has completed its organization for this year, with Norman Manson holding the position of president. The vice-president is Carol Copeland, and Barbara Daniels will act as secretary.

W. H. Webster, who has held the position of staff adviser to the council for the last four years, will again act in this capacity. According to Mr. Webster the council ended last year's activities in better financial condition than ever before.

The drive for membership in the association is now on, and with the class presidents working hard to bring their classes to the hundred per cent mark, the school should be in an excellent position to carry on athletic, social and dramatic activities. Division two was the first division to reach the perfect score, while many others were expected to have attained the objective before closing time to-day.

The committees for carrying on the different school activities have been formed, and within the first year representatives are elected next month, they will be assigned to one of these bodies. The committees and their conveners are as follows:

Social: Gertrude MacDonald and Gordon Scott.
Finance: Gordon Bovee.
Music: Betty Swartz.
Dramatics: William Oster and Betty Hickman.
Athletics: Eleanore Peden and Lynn Patrick.

In addition to these officers the presidents of the Portia, Beta Delta and Modern History Clubs are members of the council.

The council will hold regular weekly meetings, and deal with the questions of how certain school activities will be carried on.

Strictly speaking, the King of England is not a layman. He holds a clerical appointment as Prelate of St. David's Cathedral, which entitles him to preach in the cathedral.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The marriage took place at the Free Methodist Church, Seattle, on Monday evening, Rev. E. Hoon officiating, of Miss Beatrice Isabel Fraser Matheson and Mr. Terence S. Peers, both of Victoria. The bride was given in marriage by her father, who was in Seattle for the occasion. Among the many beautiful gifts was a set of Rogers silverware from her fellow employees in the water branch of the Provincial Government. The bride and groom left next day for a short trip to Tacoma and Portland, and will make their home in Seattle.

Mrs. Frank Hynes and Miss Doris Bevan-Allen, 1139 Burdett Avenue, entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Irene MacDonald, a popular bride-elect. The lovely gifts were presented in a prettily-decorated box in colors of blue and gold. Among those present were Miss Irene MacDonald, Mrs. Bevan-Allen, Mrs. Alex Stewart Jr., Mrs. Charles Rivers, Mrs. Harold Elworthy, Mrs. Frank Hynes, Miss Cora Lamb, Miss Margaret McKay, Miss Doris Bevan-Allen and Miss Mary Hynes.

Sherwood W.M.S.—Sherwood Auxiliary W.M.S. will meet at the home of the president, Mrs. James Hood, Belmont Avenue, on Thursday, October 23, instead of October 16 for a special programme and thank-offering meeting.

Perfect Sight— Without Glasses

Practically every known eye trouble—even partial blindness—has been benefited and entirely cured by a new technique. Far sight, near sight, astigmatism, cross-eyes, squint, cataract—all have been successfully treated without medicine, operation or optical aids of any kind. If you suffer from any form of eye trouble call at once and learn how you can have better eyesight, better health, a richer life—unhindered by glasses. It may mean so much to you.

Former Argentine President
Plans Legal Proceedings to Get Release

Buenos Aires, Oct. 2.—Former President Hipolito Irigoyen announced yesterday from aboard the cruiser Buenos Aires that he would undertake legal proceedings to secure his release.

His announcement followed exchanges yesterday in which the deposed president asked to be allowed to go to Spain to reside.

The government raised no objection to his request, but insisted that he make the transatlantic trip aboard a warship and remain in Europe until the situation in the Argentine is settled.

Dr. Irigoyen refused to submit to these conditions.

Pioneer Club.—W.B.A. Pioneer Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Wellington Avenue, to-night at 8 o'clock.

James Island vs. Y.M.C.A., at James Island.

The Victoria City team will be as follows: Hood, Moody, Hackett, Smith, Stoffer, Gelling, Haines, Sheret, Wright, Ross, Graves and Laird.

"So Much Depends Upon One's Support," Say These Young Dancers, Who Recently Starred In the Rotary Pageant

Above are shown some of the young dancers with their supporters as they appeared in the grand finale, leading up to the unveiling of the flag of the British Empire, in the Pageant of Nations held by the Rotary Club at the Armories last week. All were taught their particular dances by L. S. Basanta, director of the show. In the upper left hand corner is Helen Peden poised on the shoulder of Jack Taylor. Erna Waring is seen in a difficult pose with Archie McKinnon in the upper centre, while Maurine Grute and Gerald Sharpe are featured in the upper right. Byrd Loney and Dorothy Basanta, the main leaders for the intricate marches, are shown in the lower left, while in the lower right is Eugene Doherty, acrobatic dancer.

Ex-Victoria Students To Look After Varsity Swimmers This Season

Former Victoria College students will carry considerable weight in the management of the University of British Columbia swimming team this year. It was revealed in a Vancouver dispatch to-day, Johnny Foubister, who for several years swam here under the colors of the Y.M.C.A. and the old V.A.S.C., is president of the club, while Ernie Peden, local diving and breast-stroke ace, will be one of Varsity's star performers.

Bonny Wilson, a lad well-known in local swimming circles, will also wear the blue and gold colors.

CUBS EVEN UP SERIES

Chicago, Oct. 3.—The Cubs and White Sox to-day moved over to the north side of Chicago to resume their city championship struggle with the count standing at one victory each.

After dropping the first game of the series to the American League Club Wednesday, the Cubs bounced back yesterday and wonest closed-up with a 4 to 2 decision.

The Cub pitching was done by Sheriff Fred Blake. He permitted only five hits, two of them in the ninth, and was not in danger except in the final frame. His opponent, young Pat Caraway, a southpaw with a cork screw pitching motion, did well until the eighth inning, when he was cracked for singles by Blair and English, which were followed by a line drive home run by Kiki Cuyler.

Although the day was cloudy, about 21,000 paid to see the contest. The forty-three-year-old spitball thrower, Red Faber, was assigned to pitch for the White Sox, and either Guy Bush or young Bud Teachout was to do it for William Wrigley's club.

Veteran Canadian Rifle Shot Dead

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Canada's oldest first-class shot, and one of the first to attend an Empire rifle meet, is dead at Danville, Que. in the person of Major Thomas F. Cleveland, aged ninety-seven. Major Cleveland was a veteran of the American Civil War and the Fenian Raid.

part of Vancouver Island, and not to be so self centred as suggested by Mr. Hayward. Happily Mr. Hayward's ideas are not truly representative of all the people of Victoria.

Mr. Hayward also mentions the proposed construction of a new court house for Victoria to cost approximately $1,000,000. Admitted there may be some need of improvement in the Court House and in the Land Registry Office at the capital city, but surely not to the tune of $1,000,000, or any like sum. Litigation or land registry business carried on in Victoria is not as great as it was fifteen years ago. Might I ask what benefit will the ordinary citizens of Victoria or Vancouver Island derive from such an expenditure? I submit it would be more to the point to use this public money to create work, build factories or even roads, and thereby give the people something to do and create something that would be a benefit to the majority of the people. Let Mr. Hayward advocate that the upper part of the Island should receive that million dollars, or even half of it, and he can have his West Coast Road, as he calls it. With that $1,000,000 the Tofino-Long Beach Road and the BUSY executives, appreciating the need for alert, clear thinking, recognize the tremendous importance of these two factors—health and comfort—and know that health follows comfort.

Further, they recognize the mental comfort of being well-dressed—which starts from the skin out. No man can feel well-dressed if he has a few yards of stretched out fabric rolled around his legs, or flapping from out his sleeves.

Stanfield's comfort gets its start through proper design—then carries on through exclusive processes and careful tailoring to its final inspection, where it is checked for absolute perfection. Not one Stanfield's garment, no matter how low its price, ever leaves the plant without being individually examined. Yet, despite its obvious better quality, Stanfield's costs you little or no more than ordinary underwear.

Go to your favourite store today. Feel the warmth-without-weight in the fabrics knit for men who spend most of their time in their offices. Ask the clerk to show you why Stanfield's is better. Then buy it. A style and weight to meet every need, a price to suit every purse.

Important Problems Slated For Argument At Municipal Parley

Victoria and Surrounding Municipalities Send Strong Delegation to Annual Convention of Union of B.C. Municipalities in Kelowna Next Week; Unemployment, Liquor Profits and Education Costs To Be Discussed.

With the mayor of the city, Reeves of the surrounding municipalities and several aldermen and councillors as well as municipal authorities away in attendance at the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, municipal circles here will be extremely quiet next week, it is expected.

Practically half the City Council will attend the 37th annual session of the Union, to be held in Kelowna on October 7, 8, 9 and 10. The Good Roads League of B.C. and the Municipal Officers' Association of B.C. will hold their annual gatherings at the same time.

Mayor Anson will head the Victoria delegation, composed of Aldermen J. L. Mara, J. S. Worthington, James Adams and W. H. Cullen, and City Clerk M. F. Hunter.

From Oak Bay there will be Reeve E. C. Hayward, Councillor A. D. Crease and Municipal Clerk R. F. Blandy while Saanich will send Councillors Fred Borden and L. C. Hagen with Municipal Clerk R. F. Sewell. Reeve James Elrick and Councillor A. Lockley are to represent Esquimalt.

The programme facing the Union convention is a heavy one, composed for the main of a large list of resolutions dealing with problems vitally affecting municipal life of the province.

Investigation of a more scientific method of municipal assessment and taxation, Federal aid for education, appointment of a Public Utilities Commission, compulsory insurance of automobiles, universal traffic rules for municipalities, expropriation of land for airports, maintenance of prisoners at Oakalla and the Provincial Goal by the Government and amendment of the weekly half holiday act are some of the more important items slated for discussion.

LIQUOR PROFITS
A new system of distributing liquor profits among the municipalities is asked in a resolution submitted by Esquimalt. Adoption of a plan whereby no municipalities will receive less than the amounts paid out last year is sought. This question is expected to form a point of heated argument as several complaints were voiced on the distribution this year.

The Victoria delegation has about nine resolutions before the convention, dealing with the following topics: Exemption of aldermen and councillors from duty on grand or petit juries; change in assessment of agricultural land over a certain size; deletion of a clause in the Municipal Act dealing with railway assessment; several alterations to the Municipal Planning Act; exemption of parks and playgrounds from provincial and municipal taxation; exemption of airports from taxation; provision for the keeping of not more than two cows or goats in premises on city property.

Oak Bay seeks to determine the validity of stop signs; special rate for boulevard maintenance; leeway in the classing of motor vehicles for hire; a change in the method of collecting road tax; regulation for keeping of stock and horses; reaffirmation of the power to regulate the size of lots.

UNEMPLOYMENT
Saanich seeks a debate on the question of unemployment and also the right to appeal to the Supreme Court on points of law arising out of the Municipal Act.

Sessions of the Good Roads League, opening at 8 o'clock next Tuesday morning, will include addresses on important road topics by leading authorities. Patrick Philip, chief engineer of the Public Works Department, S. L. Squire, chairman of the Canadian Good Roads Association, D. E. MacKenzie, president of the Automobile Association of B.C., H. Purcell, state highway engineer of California, Dr. P. E. Doolittle, president of the Canadian Automobile Association and Hon. H. L. Longhead, Minister of Public Works will be among the speakers. It is the fourteenth annual meeting of this body.

KELOWNA MAYOR TO WELCOME
Mayor D. H. Rattenbury of Kelowna will welcome the Union of B.C. Municipalities, over which Alderman E. H. Bridgman, North Vancouver, the president, will preside. Hon. J. W. Jones, speaker of the Legislature, will deliver the opening address, with a reply by the president.

Addresses by George Walkem, M.P.P. and a talk by Robert Baird, Inspector of Municipalities are on the agenda.

The Municipal Officers' Association, of which R. F. Sewell is president, will hold its meeting Wednesday afternoon, October 8.

Gas On Stomach Is Dangerous

TELLS HOW TO STOP IT

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic gastritis and dangerous ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from any reliable drug store some Bismarck Magnesia (powder or tablets) and take a little in water after each meal. Bismarck Magnesia will stop the worst gas attack quickly and without embarrassment. Taken right after eating, it prevents formation of gas and acids so there is no sourness, bloating or pain. Pleasant and perfectly harmless to use—Bismarck Magnesia does give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your doctor or druggist. Try it to-day.

POLICE HUNT ARMED BANDIT IN ONTARIO

Brantford, Ont., Oct. 3.—Provincial police, aided by constables of various municipalities are scouring Central Ontario for trace of an armed bandit who last night shot and critically wounded Robert D. Davies, taxi driver for a Hamilton company, during an attempted hold-up.

The driver endeavored to knock the gun out of the thug's hands and though unsuccessful did manage to deflect the shot from the vital part of his head to which the gunman aimed, and the bullet penetrated his jaw. The gunman escaped.

Davies' condition was reported as serious.

SARGON BRINGS NEW HEALTH TO MRS. HOLMES

Began Celebrated Treatment After Seeing It Restore Husband, She States

"I discovered the value of Sargon through the 'marvellous results my husband got from it; and it's proven to be just as wonderful in my case," recently declared Mrs. E. Holmes, well-known resident of 2845 McGill Street, Vancouver.

MRS. E. HOLMES

"At twenty-five no woman should be nervous and rundown like I was. 'My sleep was so light and restless that the slightest noise would wake me up. I seemed 'out of tune' all over—my appetite was miserably poor and it seemed like a terrible sourness would always develop in my stomach from what I did eat. I had terrible headaches and sometimes I'd have pains in almost every part of my body. My skin was as yellow as saffron; and I'd have spells of dizziness when everything seemed to turn black before me. 'I've taken only four bottles of Sargon, along with the Pills, and all of my troubles have disappeared! I don't need to pick or choose my food any more, but I'm heartily of anything I want to, and it digests and I get real nourishment from it. My nerves are wonderfully strengthened and I don't know when I've enjoyed such sound, refreshing sleep! 'I had tried many different kinds of laxatives for constipation, but found the slightest upsetting or other unpleasant after effect; and since they've regulated me I'm entirely free of headaches, and pains through my body. My 'stomach attacks' have also disappeared, and my skin just glows with the color of new health! The world looks brighter to me from every angle since this marvellous Sargon treatment made me so well and strong."

Sargon may be obtained in Victoria and Vancouver from all Owl Drug Stores; in New Westminster from the Bess Drug Company; in Esquimalt from Fulmer's Drug Store; in Oak Bay from Charles Hudson.

OPENS TWILIGHT ORGAN RECITALS AT CATHEDRAL

Stanley Bulley in Fine Programme at Cathedral Yesterday

By G. J. D.

Organ recitals are not usually commonplace affairs. The very compositions written for the greatest and noblest of instruments seem to call for superhuman treatment, the skill of a master, and above all, taste and style. There is a never-ending change in registration of stop and manual. Organists know these characteristics only too well, and their programme preparation and recital giving, in order to command attention, must be of outstanding valuations. They know that their appeal is to the ultra-musical, rather than to those that have a smattering of things musical. Organ recital audiences have to be built up and maintained.

Stanley Bulley, therefore, the organist of Christ Church Cathedral, has set himself a by no means easy task in the series of organ recitals he has arranged, the first of which took place yesterday at 5 o'clock.

There was a good turnout considering the hour, and the programme, tastefully selected, was thoroughly enjoyable. It opened with Rheinberger's Sonata No. 6 in E flat minor, a popular number with organists whose rendering at once "stamps" the player. Throughout this number Mr. Bulley showed excellent taste and style in the interpretation, the vigorous fugue and the impressive march—a really original organ march—were confidently and ably accomplished.

Rowley's "Mood Fantasy" was especially delightful. It is from the pen of one of England's modern writers. Its very simplicity was most appealing. This will bear a repetition at some future recital. The Larghetto, from Mozart's Clarinet Quintette, is a beautiful work, and though a transcription, is superbly suitable for organ. The organist again gave some excellent examples of stop and manual manipulation, the "clavier" being frequently heard in the melody. Any work from S. S. Wesley, a distinguished organist and composer of London and Gloucester, in which cathedral town he did most of his writing when organist of the cathedral, is welcomed to any organ programme. The "Choral Song and Fugue" brims over with life, and the fugue, taken from the anthem by Travers, "Ascribe Unto the Lord," abounds with organ possibilities. Mr. Bulley's conception and rendering of this number reached his listeners with satisfaction as to his organ accomplishment.

CONTRALTO SOLOS

Assisting in the recital was Nora Jones, L.A.B., well-known contralto, and a member of the cathedral choir. She, as usual, sang with much charm, and the numbers, which seemed particularly to suit her voice and the occasion, were greatly admired. These were Schubert's "Hymn," "Rest in Peace, All Souls Now Sleeping," and the "Inflammatus et Ascensus," from the "Stabat Mater" by Dvorak.

The next recital is to take place on Wednesday, October 22, in the evening, with Dorothy Hartree as soloist.

ing tournament in their gymnasium on Tuesday evening. Collis and Oliver Mount boxed three rounds, the former getting the decision, H. Caldwell and D. Goodman ended in a draw and L. Nichols defeated J. Akerman in three rounds. One of the best bouts was between W. Smith and S. Larden. Smith had the advantage in weight, but Larden's footwork and speed gave him a slight margin in points. Other contests were: H. Nichols vs. F. Nelson and C. Beech vs. A. Beddie, in which Nichols and Beech won the decisions; and F. Morris vs. R. Akerman, who fought three good rounds to a draw. Akerman and Morris were presented with medals offered for the best bout. F. Stacey and C. Budge gave a clever gymnastic exhibition. Refreshments were served by the committee. The club hopes to hold a public tournament, with visiting boxers, within three months.

Permit for construction of a one-story garage building for A. Sheret at 749 View Street was issued at the City Hall this morning. The structure will cost about $2,500.

Hearing of D. L. Cambrey on a statutory charge was resumed in the City Police Court this morning. After several prosecution witnesses had heard the accused was remanded to October 7.

William Roberts was arraigned in the City Police Court this morning on a charge of permitting drunkenness on his premises and was remanded to next Tuesday.

James Orr, who pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, was sentenced to twenty days imprisonment by Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning.

About $30 was secured by burglars who yesterday evening robbed the home of F. Behl, 2411 Wark Street, while a bridge party was in progress. The money was taken from two purses in an upstairs bedroom, to which the burglars gained access by means of a ladder to the window. Detectives are investigating the case.

Further consideration of the scheme to beautify the city, particularly Beacon Hill, was given by the industrial group of the Chamber of Commerce at its luncheon to-day. F. B. Pemberton and P. R. Leighton were named to act with Captain J. W. Troup and C. P. Hill on this matter.

Following the transfer of the 6,000 square miles of land in the railway belt from Federal to provincial control, the Crown Timber and Lands Office at New Westminster will be closed. Edward Walmsey, the agent, has been placed in charge of forestry protection for the area.

One hundred pure bred Angora rabbits, valued at $1,000, will be shipped to Japan shortly from the hutch of the British Columbia Provincial Rabbit Breeders' Association. It will be the fifth shipment of its kind under a plan to introduce pure bred British Columbia stock into the Far East country.

Delay was sought by M. Matheson, representing the defendants, to permit of taking evidence in India. The action has been pending for five years, and concerns a partnership in a lumbering concern owned by Hindus.

A world day for animals has been organized by the world league against vivisection and for protection of animals, the English branch of which has operated for thirty years. The world day has been dedicated to St. Francis, patron saint of animals.

Great Britain, the American continent, most European countries, and even far away China, have united in celebrating this celebration. The day will be observed in Victoria by a silver tea, under the auspices of the local Anti-vivisection Society to-morrow afternoon in the New Theatre Hall, Fort Street, from 3.30 to 6 o'clock. An excellent programme will be rendered.

Mrs. Agnes Brown, Native Daughter, Died Here To-day

Mrs. Agnes Murray Brown, who was born in this city in 1862, passed away this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, aged sixty-eight years. The late Mrs. Brown was the widow of C. Brown, and is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. A. Robbins of Victoria, and two sons, A. M. Brown and F. P. Brown. The remains are resting at the B.C. Funeral Chapel, pending funeral arrangements.

OBITUARY

The death occurred yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital of Thomas Robert Heckford, aged seventy-three years. The late Mr. Heckford was born at Derbyshire, England, and came to this city thirty years ago. He is survived by two sons, Austin Heckford, San Francisco, and Thomas Roy Heckford, Illinois, and one daughter residing in England. The remains are resting at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, and will be forwarded on Sunday to Los Angeles for interment.

Many friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Mary Anne Willis, which took place on Thursday afternoon from McCall Bros' Funeral Home. Rev. G. A. Reynolds conducted the service, during which the hymns, "The Sands of Time" and "Art Thou Weary," were sung. Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park. The following acted as pallbearers: A. Galbraith, G. W. Smith, H. Dack and W. Champion.

The funeral of Mrs. Kitty White, who passed away last Tuesday, took place yesterday afternoon, leaving the Sands Funeral Chapel at 12.45 o'clock. Services were conducted at the Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, by Rev. S. Lundie. Relatives and a large gathering of friends were present and there were many beautiful flowers. The pallbearers were: Joseph Forrier, G. Forrier, A. Woodruff, R. Woodruff, J. Forrier and W. Cook. The remains were laid to rest in Sooke.

MAN IS FOUND HUNG IN SHACK

Police Investigating Death of R. Graham, Discovered Dead This Morning

Hanging by a rope in a shack on the George Vancouver, near N.E.R. roundhouse, the body of Robert Graham, a middle-aged man was discovered about 11.30 o'clock this morning.

Three people are held as material witnesses pending investigation of the case by the police.

The body was removed to Thompson's Funeral Home after coroner E. W. Hay was notified. The date of the inquest has not yet been fixed.

Little is known about Graham who is believed to have been a waterfront worker. He was found in a boat builder's shack.

URGES PARK ALONG WEST COAST ROAD

Area Below Banfield Ideal For Park, C. L. Harrison Tells Joint Luncheon

Chamber of Commerce, Real Estate Men and Publicity Bureau Hear Address

Stating that the southern portion of Vancouver Island's West Coast was more suitable for park purposes than that of the northern area and voicing an opinion that the "Ocean Highway" would be a joke if it did not extend to Banfield, C. L. Harrison delivered an illustrated address before the Chamber of Commerce, the Publicity Bureau and the Real Estate Board of Victoria to-day.

Mr. Harrison dealt with the northern area of the West Coast around Long Beach in order to contrast it with the southern stretch along the coast. He said that the prevailing opinion, favoring the northern part had been put forward in order to influence Vancouver Island people in seeking to have that part reserved for park purposes. It was his aim, Mr. Harrison said, to show that the southern portion was equally as good, if not better, for that purpose.

In the first place, the speaker stated, most of the land in the northern area was owned by timber interests, whereas the scenic beauty spots of the south were virtually entirely located on government land or Indian reserves.

OTHER GOOD BEACHES

There were more beaches in the lower portion quite equal to the standard of Long Beach, he added, noting that the clear stretches of the latter were limited to six or seven miles, not twelve or fifteen as was popularly supposed.

There were more lakes, fine blow holes and rock pillars in the southern portion than in that above the canal. He referred to the publicity value of such scenery to the city of Victoria, stressing the fact that the closer it was to the town, the better it would be.

RESERVE FOR GAME

If the southern portion was reserved for a park, it would also serve as a preserve for elk and other animals which were fast disappearing from the Island, Mr. Harrison said.

By means of moving pictures and stationary slides Mr. Harrison displayed the rugged beauty of the coast line from Banfield to the south, showing Pachecha Beach, the Pachecha River, Tassat Falls and many other places of interest.

The speaker stressed particularly the necessity for Victorians to see that the fine timber stands along the coast of the upper Island had been preserved. He illustrated his statement by showing pictures of logged-off country to illustrate his statement that the tourist value could be found in these areas.

In this connection he advised that timber stands be secured now, before they were cheaply and hastily purchased at a price which, he maintained, would never be lower. He also urged the gathering to do its utmost to secure assistance from the government to preserve the coastal area below the Alberni Canal.

When the West Coast Road was completed under the new T. H. Thompson plan from Banfield to Ucluelet could be inaugurated to look after the motor travel from Victoria to Long Beach.

CITIZENS MUST WORK

Mr. Harrison closed by strongly urging the Chamber of Commerce and citizens generally to press for the early construction of the West Coast Road from Victoria and Banfield, and the development of a park south of the Alberni Canal.

In doing so he wished it to be understood that he was in no way hostile to a road project north of the canal, which he thought should also be undertaken as soon as possible.

H. E. Bowman, in thanking Mr. Harrison for his interesting address, declared that personally if Victoria could not have both the West Coast Road and the Court House, he would favor the former, being made on the West Coast Road.

CHANCE FOR BOTH

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., remarked that there was excellent prospect of both the West Coast Road and the Court House being built. Mr. Hayward drew attention to a resolution by the Nanaimo Board of Trade which had been sent out by M. C. Ironside, secretary of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island, opposing the development of a national park south of the Alberni Canal and recommending one north of the canal instead.

Mr. Hayward pointed out that this resolution, although it had been sent out by the secretary of the Associated Board, had not been passed by that body, but only by the Nanaimo board and the secretary's action, therefore, was misleading and should be disapproved.

MANY ATTEND NIGHT SCHOOL

Opening of Evening Classes Marked By Large Registration

Registration for the evening technical classes conducted under the direction of the Victoria School Board, Victoria High School, was exceptionally good, it was announced this morning by W. H. Binns, supervisor of technical education.

"The practical classes, especially were popular," Mr. Binns said. "In some of them it probably will be necessary to have a waiting list as the accommodation is all taken. The stenography courses, including typewriting, shorthand and bookkeeping, are again well attended, and I expect they will be filled within the next week or two."

Mr. Binns pointed out that registrations will be taken for the next two weeks, at least in order to give those who were unable to attend on the opening night an opportunity to join the classes. It is expected that late registrations will bring the number of students up to the large quota of last year.

Wilson Will Be Behind Plate For St. Louis Cards

St. Louis, Oct. 3.—Manager Gabby Street to-day encouraged Cardinal fans by announcing his star catcher, Jimmy Wilson, will be behind the plate for the rest of the world series, starting with to-morrow's game.

Wilson, ranked as one of the best backstops of the National League, had been out of the game for several weeks because of an injured leg.

Blind Man Again Happy With Radio Playing in Home

Yesterday's appeal in The Times for a storage battery, sent out on a hill cross roads, met with immediate response, and yesterday evening he sat in his little home listening once more to his radio. The battery was donated by a fireman of the local department and was taken to the afflicted one by C. H. Peck of Penbrooke Street.

The blind man's face lit up with pleasure as he once again heard the comforting strains of his radio. It is his only pleasure now. He is over sixty years of age and has a crippled wife and three small children.

In addition to the battery, other donations of apples, jellies and other provisions were received.

Premier Asks Unemployment Co-operation

Cities of B. C. Invited to Submit Work Proposals to Minister

Undertakings in Province Will Be Carried Out on Proportion Basis

Municipalities of British Columbia requiring assistance under the Federal Government plan to relieve unemployment under which the Federal Government, the Provincial Government and municipalities contribute to undertakings at proportions to be decided upon, are invited by Premier Tomin to send their application to the Minister of Public Works, Hon. N. S. Lougheed.

The text of the regulations governing the $20,000,000 expenditure by the Federal Government to relieve unemployment were received yesterday and discussed by the provincial cabinet after which the following statement was made:

"The Government has received from Ottawa this morning the regulations adopted by the Federal Government covering the relief of unemployment in Canada. These arrived were not in a position to take any final action on the problem here, for while we had a general knowledge of the proposed scheme, some changes have been made in the regulations since I discussed them with the Minister of Labor at Ottawa. The regulations outline the conditions under which the Federal Government will grant assistance in unemployment relief."

"The British Columbia Government will be glad to co-operate in action in those sections of the province where conditions are pressing. Therefore, it will be in order for those municipalities requiring assistance to prepare their proposals for unemployment relief and submit them immediately to the Minister of Public Works in Victoria so that details of the proposed undertakings may be properly worked out. No time should be lost in completing these details."

"With regard to the unorganized districts, the government will lay its plans for work before the Minister of Labor at Ottawa without delay."

Hotel Lobby Gossip

Headed by Samuel Blythe, the widely known staff writer of The Saturday Evening Post, the sixty passengers sailing from Victoria on the Empress of Canada, scheduled to leave last night from the outer docks, were brought into the Empress Hotel by the C.P.R. after they had waited on the docks for a couple of hours for the vessel which was unable to dock because of the fog.

At 5.30 o'clock this morning all the members of the party were called and served with breakfast, and later were taken out to the Empress on the Salvage King.

Among those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dawson of Seseo's Apartments, Oak Bay, who are sailing on a holiday tour.

Deaconess Hellaby of the Chinese Mission in Vancouver, who had been here this week meeting local mission heads, also sailed on the Empress.

George Cowan, Vancouver lawyer and former member of the House of Commons, is here on business at the Parliament Buildings. Mrs. Cowan is with him at the Empress Hotel.

Also from Vancouver are Mr. and Mrs. J. Meekinson.

Among the Island people who are at the Empress Hotel are Mrs. R. R. Symington of Duncan and Harry Grimes of Westholme.

From the south there are Miss M. Galloway and Mrs. M. McFayden of San Francisco.

Court of Revision Adjoins Sitting Until November 3

The Court of Revision, sitting on the Victoria agreement roll, adjourned its session this morning until November 3 when an appeal in connection with railway land assessment will be taken up.

There were sixty-two appeals on the list and adjustments were made in a few cases. The question regarding railway land was left over until after the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, where this point is to be discussed.

PEEWEE GOLF STEPS OUT AS MAJOR INDUSTRY

Not Even a New Born Babe Seems to Dampen Enthusiasm of Players

Six Courses Now Operating in Victoria May Soon Swell to Dozen

Has miniature golf come to stay? Will the pee wee game that has swept the world like ping pong sweep its popularity, or will it have a run no longer than that of the short skirt which is now slowly but surely being dropped.

When ping pong came in like a cyclone there were those who scoffed, as there were scoffers when miniature golf made its debut. Ping pong rose on the crest of the wave to the importance of a major sport, and although its popularity waned Victoria sports goods stores still sell hundreds of sets a year.

Miniature gold champions in Victoria are backing their sport for a long and successful life. Six courses are now open. With other courses projected there will be a dozen within the next few months with outdoor courses for the sunny days and inside courses for the cold weather.

The Pacific Golf Course at Belleville Street, pioneers of the game in Victoria, still report rubbing business. The Camosun Golf Club on Douglas Street and the Gnome on Port Street still draw their crowds when the weather man smiles. For indoor players the Garden Court, the Crystal Garden course and the Wee McGregor offer tricky chances.

But that is not the end of it. The list will grow. It is understood that another course is projected in the Grey Line Building, opposite the Dominion Hotel. An indoor course is planned next to the Reg Motor homing. Outside driving courses on the popular U.S. system of twenty-five cents for a bucket of balls, are planned at the Crystal Garden and on the old arena site.

Company incorporations registered at the Parliament Buildings show a half a dozen new courses a week in the past few days. Recent dispatches from Vancouver said proprietors now had to throw in a free lunch to draw players, and New Westminster citizens are pressing for the courses to be closed on account of noise.

Alberni, Duncan and Nanaimo still offer fields of opportunity. With an open air golf course already built, Nanaimo will soon have an indoor course built by Victoria men. Others are to follow.

Nothing stops the enthusiasts. There are no endurance games on record here yet, but a young married couple at the Wee McGregor course the other day demonstrated how nothing stands in the way of the enthusiasts. They had with them a babe in arms as they passed the pay counter, and A. W. Carter, the proprietor and new to his duties, grew alarmed as he visualized mindless new born babies as part of a pee wee golf operator's duties. However, nonchalantly swinging clubs, the young couple walked onto the course. Mother passed the baby to father and he plugged a bottle in its mouth to keep it quiet while mother took a shot. Father passed the baby back to mother while father took his shot, and so they went happily around the course.

INVESTIGATE NORTHCOTT'S "CONFESSION"

Police Check Statement Left By Slayer Who Was Hanged Yesterday

Father, Mother and Nephew Implicated in Crimes By Last Word of Condemned Man

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Investigation of the Riverside ranch murders, for which Gordon Stewart Northcott was hanged yesterday, have not closed, Los Angeles deputies indicated here last night as they prepared to return to the south.

The last confession of the murderer shortly before he went to his death, will be fully investigated before the authorities consider the case closed, southern officers said. In this confession Northcott implicated his father, his mother and his nephew. The father, Cyrus G. Northcott, is going back voluntarily with the officers, Deputy Sheriff Crane said.

"He is not under arrest," Crane said. "nor are any charges filed against him. But we intend to check that confession."

He explained they want to know where the elder Northcott is during the time they are checking on the slayer's last story of the fate of the four boys whom he was believed to have killed. Cyrus Northcott, Crane said, agreed in a conversation at a Berkeley crematory to go with the officers on their return trip.

MOTHER GAVE UP HOPE Mrs. Northcott, the mother, was not informed immediately of her son's death. She was left in the recreation hall of the women's prison, where prison officials said she was "in a daze." It was known, however, she had given up all hope of a reprieve some time before the hanging.

Dr. S. M. Marcus of Los Angeles, psychiatrist, retained by the defense to examine the young man, said Northcott was a clear type of constitutional psychopathic inferior, a deviation from normal that could not be classified as legally or medically insane. He said due to inherited conditions he was a "sex deviate" and a "pathological liar." The condition could have been corrected to an extent during his childhood by psychoanalysis, but that such conditions were incurable in adults. Marcus was here in an effort to participate in a post mortem examination for scientific purposes.

Northcott's confession left with the warden with the request that it not be opened until after the execution follows:

DENIES CRIMES "Gordon Northcott brought me to his boy to ranch, used him for two days, then shot him, minding Gordon Northcott and son, Clark, bury him. First they tried to burn him, but gave up, then buried him in hollow."

"Winslow boys came to ranch and were killed by Sanford Clark. He killed the young one first then the oldest one, the old one did not die, so Gordon Northcott shot him."

"Cyrus Northcott did not have nothing to do with Winslow, but knows all about their being burned and buried, also Mrs. Northcott."

"All of them (four) were killed in the house and were hid in hole in garage when anyone came."

"March 10 Collins boy brought to ranch, killed Saturday, April 18. "Winslow came to ranch, killed May 29."

"Jose Gonzales, Mexican, tried to stab Northcott in fight. Mexican boy killed on February 1. Killed by Northcott, shot through heart by 22-automatic. Came from Los Angeles."

"October 2, 1930."

"GORDON STEWART NORTHCOTT."

The notes to his father: "Dear Old Daddy of Mine: "Your letter was wonderful. I am your lonely frightened boy. I love you so. Don't leave my boy be cut up or left behind prison walls."

The note to Newgent said: "As God above is my judge I am not guilty. The police wanted me and make me say things, but the truth is I am innocent. God pity me and save my life. You have been a real friend in need. May God bless you."

Second note to his father: "Dear Daddy: Please give me an outside funeral. I love you, mother and daddy. Only you did not carry on."

ARCHITECTURE AND ART THEME OF ARCHDEACON

"Ecclesiastical Art and Architecture" was the topic of an interesting address given at the Memorial Hall yesterday evening by the Reverend Archdeacon E. P. Laycock. The talk dealt with a number of lantern slides, showing Gothic structures in the Old Country. Westminster Abbey, a fine Gothic temple of the Renaissance period, were two of the subjects described by the speaker, who recently returned from a trip to England. Cathedrals at Rouen, Truro and Amiens were also depicted.

Bishop C. D. Schofield spoke briefly, describing the Lambeth conference.

Colwood

A directors' meeting of the Metcosh Farmers' Institute was held on Wednesday evening at the home of A. E. Wale, Goldstream Road. Business rising out of the fall fair was transacted and a substantial balance was reported on hand by the secretary-treasurer. The drainage committee reported the Happy Valley drainage to be progressing, and expected to be completed in time to take care of the fall rains. A social evening will be held about October 20 in Luxton Hall, when prizes and cups won at the fall fair will be presented. Refreshments were served by Mrs. N. B. Pollock, Mrs. L. O'Hell and Miss Evelyn Pollock.

Nine tables of progressive five hundred were in play at Wednesday night's card party, the first of the fall term. A social evening will be held under the auspices of the Colwood Hall committee. The winners were Miss G. Miller and J. Hopwood, while low scores were held by Mrs. J. E. Macdonald and W. Savory. Visitors were welcomed from Victoria and Langford. The refreshment committee included Mesdames A. Godfrey, J. Hopwood, H. Parker, R. S.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)
Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—Wheat: Despite weak cables the wheat market displayed a very strong tone to-day with prices closing around the top and showing gains of 3/4 to 1 1/2 cents.

A big export business was worked yesterday placing the total at around 4,000,000 bushels, but there was a full overnight stock that export and seaboard houses were not active in the market to-day, trade being largely of a local character, smart from occasional support in the May from Chicago interests.

Some of the foreign advices were bearish, including a report that Russia was still trying to play a leading part in the export trade, but North American markets ignored the report.

Futures dipped at the outset in response to the weak cables but soon staged a comeback and the balance of the session showed steady improvement with a very sharp upturn in the last stages. Offerings on the whole were restricted, although the large Canadian interest was credited with some selling on the early advance.

Elevator interests were not pressing the market, since the country deliveries are getting smaller and moreover farmers are working on the land, and are inclined to hold wheat in view of the steadily rising markets of the last few days.

Argentine shipments were a little better than estimated, but at only amounted to 870,000 bushels, of which the half was destined for Europe.

Australia kept up its average clearances, the total being 1,312,000 bushels for the week.

Rumors of rains in Australia and a bearish northwest grain dealers estimate of production in western Canada of 380,000,000 caused uneasiness at seaboard, but late reports did not confirm any improvement in Australian weather.

Buying was quite brisk near the close of the local market and sentiment was decidedly bullish, with further upturns at Chicago and the absence of heavy offerings.

Coarse grains: Very little could be confirmed in export circles developing as any of the coarse grains concerned, but a moderate volume of barley was sold for domestic use, other business being rather thin.

The local market was covered in early trade with some investment buying, added prices were generally firm.

First: Trade light, but good grains were recorded.

Liverpool cables due 2 1/4 to 2 3/4 higher, based on Winnipeg.

BRIDGE

By WM. E. MCKENNEY
Secretary, American Bridge League

She hesitated and looked about her for the wardrobe mistress. What she saw was a girl with a double row of upright mirrors dividing it down the centre.

Some of the stools were occupied by girls who were removing their street clothes and were in various stages of undress. That was all she saw then, for the door swung open behind her with considerable force and caught her on the arm. She cried sharply.

"Oh, did I hurt you? I'm so sorry!" a lovely voice said quickly.

Jerry's eyes smarted with the tears of pain, but she was conscious of a sweet face turned to her with an anxious expression.

"Oh, I'm always hurting someone! I'm so awkward," the lovely voice went on, filled now with self-reproach.

Jerry smiled at her. The pain wasn't lasting.

"It's my fault," she said. "I was in the way."

"But I shouldn't be always banging doors," the other returned. "You're a new girl, aren't you?" she went on with a friendliness Jerry had not expected to meet here.

"Then come along and take a stool next to mine," she said to Jerry's affirmative nod. "My name's Evelyn Starr. I've been in a Weintz production for two seasons."

"I'm Jerry Ray," Jerry told her. "And I've never been in a show."

"Then I can make up for hurting you by looking after your debut," Evelyn exclaimed delightedly.

She had taken Jerry by the arm and was hurrying her along to a place at the far end of the table. Jerry saw now that the room contained several like the one she had noticed first.

A few of the girls turned their heads over their shoulders and watched their progress.

"High hat's found someone good enough to hand out a little conversation," one of them remarked sniggeringly as they passed her.

Jerry felt Evelyn's fingers tighten on her arm and guessed that they were the objects of the girls' comment.

When they came to Evelyn's place she had a stool up beside her own and then started pushing the jars and bottles on the table further down to clear a space for Jerry's hat and bag.

"I'll tell you what to get," she was saying when a girl in a very short, black satin dress rushed up and wanted to know what in the blankety blank she thought she was doing.

"Evelyn looked at her coldly.

"I'm taking advantage of the rule you girls applied to me," she said calmly. "I wish to have the Ray at hand—that's the rule you know. Friends may have places together even if someone else must change."

"Is that so?" the girl in black satin drawled. "Well, I don't move, see."

She jerked a stool before the place that Evelyn had cleared for Jerry and popped down on it with decisive finality. Jerry saw that it was twice about the legs of the stool as though they meant to stay there.

Evelyn said nothing more. She was tight-lipped with anger, but she controlled it admirably.

"Go call for help," the other girl sneered as she walked away.

Jerry realized that Evelyn had gone for the mistress of the wardrobe, for she returned with the latter in less than a minute.

"Don't make trouble, Lucile," the mistress said to the rebellious girl on the stool. "You're not to claim your place for a friend. Remember, you girls yourselves, started the custom."

"Aw, go to . . ."

"None of your swearing now," the older woman warned her quietly. "Move!"

Jerry was shaken by the scene. But no one else seemed to mind it. Evelyn was perfectly calm.

"Hurry," she said, "and put on your suit." She pointed to a folded garment on the table and Jerry picked it up.

Her first stage costume! Gingham pants and blouse.

She herself was scrambling out of her street dress and Jerry hurriedly followed her example. The other girls were trooping out of the double door in a shoving mass. She saw the girl who had quarreled with Evelyn about a place at the table in the rear, already in a state of undress.

"How in the world did she change so quickly?" she asked Evelyn in astonishment.

"No underwear," Evelyn replied succinctly. "At times she comes in with only a wrap on."

She's been nearly fired so often she doesn't dare be late. Lives just around the corner, too. Where you live?" she added with friendly interest.

"In a rooming house a little farther up town," Jerry replied.

"I live with my mother and brother on 104th Street," Evelyn volunteered. "They don't like my being on the stage, but I want the experience. I'm going to write a book about the theatre some day."

"How interesting," Jerry murmured. She knew that Alester used that expression when he had no better comment to make; and she hadn't the slightest idea what to say to a person who was going to write a book.

Fortunately, she felt, there wasn't time to say more. The last call came just as she slipped the blouse over her head. Evelyn caught her by the hand and pulled her along to the door.

Jerry managed somehow to get the blouse adjusted before they reached the stage. She hoped Mr. Hule wouldn't be critical of her appearance. The man must be an ogre, the way everyone was warning her of his temper. Of course he was, but Jerry was glad, nevertheless, that Evelyn hadn't been made late on her account.

She wondered what she would have done if she'd had to fight her way alone and obviously she had to stand up for her rights here.

Evelyn led her over to a group of girls who were standing near a tall, thin, stooped man in rolled-up sleeves, his collar open on a hairy chest.

"Is that Mr. Hule?" Jerry whispered. "Oh, haven't you met him?" Evelyn turned to regard her curiously. "Who engaged you?" she asked as Jerry shook her head negatively.

Evelyn's face became shadowed. "When you must be prepared for Mr. Hule to be disagreeable to you," she said quickly. "But don't let him see that you mind. Do just as he tells you."

When you open your partner's suit fourth best and later follow with an ace, you hold a sure trick. Your partner immediately knows that you hold four of his suit with one of the three top honors.

There are times, of course, when partner's suit is not opened, and they come under the following classification:

(1) Supporting partner bids one suit, you bid another suit, and your partner's suit is not opened, and they come under the following classification:

(2) If your own suit is opened by ace, king and queen your partner is headed by the king of your suit.

(3) If you have sure re-entries in your suit and have a strong suit opened by king and queen, and you are weak in your partner's suit, it will pay to open your own. Of course this condition is not often found as it is very difficult for opponents to go to no trump if you and your partner have named two suits.

(4) If your own suit is headed by ace, king and queen your partner is headed by the king of your suit.

(5) If you have sure re-entries in your suit and have a strong suit opened by king and queen, and you are weak in your partner's suit, it will pay to open your own.

(6) If you have sure re-entries in your suit and have a strong suit opened by king and queen, and you are weak in your partner's suit, it will pay to open your own.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Quick, Uncle Wiggily, slip in through the back door!" whispered Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzey as the rabbit gentleman came hopping to his hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Why, what's the matter?" Are any of the bad chaps waiting for me at the front door?" asked Mr. Longears as he went around the side path, with the muskrat lady housekeeper creeping ahead of him.

"Oh, no. Nothing like that!" whispered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzey. "But Jingle and Jangle are inside and they don't want to be seen. They're waiting for you to come in with surprise candy for their birthday party."

"Oh, of course," said Mr. Longears. "I was afraid, first, that something might have happened."

"No, not here," went on Nurse Jane. "But it is as if something had happened to you, Uncle Wiggily, and she looked at his pockets all stuffed with candy, at his tail, silk hat which was also stuffed with candy, and at his shoes, which were also stuffed with candy."

"Besides that, Uncle Wiggily carried, like a basket, an old bird's nest, with a honeysuckle vine for a handle, and this basket was also filled with candy."

"And to-morrow was another rehearsal day. Don't we ever finish before 3 o'clock?" she asked wearily.

"Oh, yes," Alester assured her. "Hule's whipping you into shape. That's what he calls it," he added apologetically.

"I'd say he must have a queer idea of shape," Jerry returned with a weary smile. "I feel as if I'd never look naked again."

"It won't be so bad after a few days," Alester encouraged her. Jerry slumped a little lower in her chair. She'd have liked to stretch out her legs but she didn't dare. Her slippers had been kicked off and she was afraid that she might touch Alester with her unshod toes.

"Did you hear the razzing I got when Mr. Hule turned you down?" she asked. "There's a girl in the show who hates me already. That was pie for her."

"Where's the soap? Give it to me!"

"Yes, something did happen," said Uncle Wiggily. "I was coming home through the woods with a big paper bag full of candy for the twin's birthday party surprise, when all of a sudden, the bag burst and the candy fell on the ground. I picked up all I could, but there was a lot left, so the kind rabbit me the candy basket."

"Oh, what a fine idea, to use an old bird's nest for a candy basket!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "But slip in quietly and put the candy away. It's almost time for the party."

If you will kindly remember, I told you about the candy basket in the story last night. So now I'm going to tell you about the party.

Jingle and Jangle, the two little twin rabbit girls, had almost forgotten that it was their birthday. They had been to school, they had played tag on the way home and when they reached the bungalow their mother met them at the door, as Uncle Wiggily slipped around the back way with the candy.

"Oh, here you are, my dears!" said the rabbit lady, smiling. "Will you just hop up to the bath room, comb your hair, put on clean dresses and fresh hair ribbons, and then come down."

Oh, ma! Why must we get all slicked up?" asked Jingle.

"Is company coming, and have we got clean towels in the bath room, Ma?" asked Jangle.

"Never mind, my dears. Do as I tell you, ask no questions, but come down as soon as you can," said the rabbit lady.

"Oh Jangle! Golly, gosh! Something is going to happen," whispered Jingle as she began washing the water.

"It seems so," agreed the other twin. "Come on! Hurry up! Where's the soap? Give it to me!"

Jingle tried to hand Jangle the soap but it slipped out of her paw and took a sleigh ride across the floor and Jangle made a grab for it and she fell down and knocked Jingle down and they were all mixed up. But they laughed and washed and finally came down stairs, wondering what it was all about.

And there at the table stood Uncle Wiggily behind a big pile of the candy he had brought home in the bird's nest basket.

"Surprise party for Jingle and Jangle!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, cried Jingle! "Oh," cried Jangle.

"Equal Opportunity
Is Liberal Keynote
For Nova Scotia

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 3.—Inquiry into the economics of production in Nova Scotia and the consequent presentation of the evidence to federal authorities "to the end that equality of the opportunity for the people of Nova Scotia may be secured," is the keynote pledged in the platform adopted by the Liberal provincial party here.

Certainly Mohammedan Brides and Bridegrooms Ought to Be Allowed to See Each Other Before Marriage, but What Good Will It Do Them at That?

THE Mohammedan women are fighting for the right of brides and bridegrooms to see each other before marriage.

"Yeah," says Will Rogers, "and what good will it do them?"

Mighty little for marriage is one of the things in which neither wisdom nor age nor experience nor previous knowledge seems to count.

Every day we see brilliant men and women making marriages that a congenial idiot would know are bound to turn out disastrously. We see the middle-aged man and woman making as silly a choice of a wife or husband as any love-sick, hobbledy boy or flapper could make. We see men and women who have been bitterly unhappy in a first marriage plunging into a second marriage that will make them even more wretched. We see husbands and wives who have made mud pies together in fancy, who have gone to school together and grown up together, getting divorces because of incompatibility of temper.

So when we say why don't men and women find out all about each other before marriage and ascertain whether they are congenial or not and thus avoid making the mistakes that wreck so many homes, we are talking nonsense. It can't be done.

Marriage does something mysterious and weird and occult to persons' characters that changes them so that they become different personalities. So that the John Jones and Mary Smiths, who have known each other all their lives, discover after marriage that they don't know each other at all. They are as complete strangers as if they had never set eyes on each other until the bride lifted her veil after the wedding ceremony.

John would have sworn that he knew every quirk in Mary's temper and temperament, and that he could diagram her every fault and virtue. Mary is perfectly certain that John is an open book that she can read at sight, and that he hasn't a thought, nor a taste, nor a hope, nor an aspiration, nor a good quality nor a bad one that is hidden or a secret from her. And everybody says what a safe and safe thing it is for a young couple to marry who have been companions since childhood, and who know all about each other. No chance for disillusion there.

But marriage changes their relationship to each other. It puts each other more or less in the other's power. It develops either faults or virtues. Above all, it turns the spotlight on every defect. It takes the intimacy of daily association for us to find out how mean and selfish or how noble and fine an individual is.

No girl, not even if she is the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter and born in a cave, can tell beforehand what sort of husband a man is going to make, no matter what knowledge she possesses of his past. She can't say he will be a good husband because he has been a good son, because among the most undesirable husbands in the world are those with the mother complex. She can't say that he will be a generous husband because he has been a good spender, because many men who make the generous gesture abroad are tightwads at home. She can't even be sure that he will be considerate of her because their desires and opinions have never clashed.

Nor has a man the prophetic power to tell what sort of wife a girl will make. He can't tell whether her solicitude for him will turn into nagging, nor whether her little motherly attitude that he finds so enchanting will develop into petty tyranny. Nor whether she acquiesces in everything he has to say because she considers him an oracle, or has no opinions of her own. Nor whether her artless ignorance will always be piquant, or bore him to death. Nor whether she made the angel's food with her own hands, or mother or the cook did it.

Probably no man and woman make the kind of husbands and wife that those they married expected them to make. Nor, probably, do any man and woman make the kind of husbands and wife they thought they were going to make, for marriage is not the broad highway running through rose gardens and by murmuring hills that lovers think it is. It is a hard and rocky road through a strange and unknown country, full of hairpin turns where one is likely to skid off the bank, filled with pitfalls into which it is easier to stumble than not, and with mountains of difficulties that it takes a strong and courageous heart to surmount.

That's why we oldsters smile when we hear boys and girls saying that they will never do this and they will never stand for that when they are married. We know that in five years they will be walking the colic and pushing the perambulator and gumchewing around each others' peculiarities and bearing and forbearing, just like the rest of us.

Nor is there any way to tell beforehand how matrimony is going to affect a man or woman. There are lay men that turn into go-getters. There are philanderers that domesticate. The knowledge that a woman is dependent upon him brings out all that is chivalrous in some men's souls. The knowledge that a woman is in their power turns other men into brutes. The feeling that they are tied to some woman makes some men mad to get away from their wives.

And so with women. Marriage turns some women into angels and others into devils. It turns selfish girls into self-abnegating wives and mothers, and other girls into gold-diggers who work their husbands to death to indulge them. It makes some women helpmeets and others parasites. It makes some women penny-pinchers and others the joy of the specialty shops.

And there you are. Nobody knows which way the cat will jump in matrimony. And so while our Mohammedan sisters undoubtedly have a right to see what they are getting before they tie up with it, there isn't much good that it will do them.

Keeping Body Fit Is Best Way to Prevent Pains In Your Eyes

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN

"I wish we could banish the term eyestrain from our vocabularies."

This statement was made by Dr. George B. Derby before the section on diseases of the eye of the American Medical Association and is an indication of the way in which the specialists in disease of the eye look at many cases of apparent eyestrain.

The general public should learn that eyes are seldom strained, that the eye is provided with a large factor of safety, and that healthy eyes seldom become diseased even by excessive use. Frequently what appears to be a disturbance of the eye is merely a general nervous breakdown, representing a rebellion by the system against bad hygiene. The person who complains of eyestrain has been burning the candle at both ends, neglecting regular meals, sufficient sleep, fresh air and exercise.

In order to do work with the eyes which means also with the brain, one must keep the body fit. Dr. Derby describes several instances in which young men, working for university degrees or studying into the late hours of the night on college reports and statements, consulted the physician because they believed that their eyes were breaking down. In each instance, the difficulty was not with the eyes itself, but with the fact that the person concerned was centering in the eyes a series of physical complaints arising from bad hygiene.

In most instances, the person concerned feels that the eyes are at fault because someone in the family is blind or has very poor eyes. When reassured that the eyes are not concerned, the patient frequently reveals the fact that the illness of some other person in his family is the basis for his worry.

There are, of course, people who use the eyes as the reason for escape from uncomfortable situations, just as there are persons who cannot hear the things that displease them or that place demands upon them for efforts that they do not care to put forth.

Sometimes the student who is dissatisfied with his school or who finds keeping up too great a burden will complain of pain in the eyes and difficulty vision, whereas examination will show the eyes fully competent for the amount of work placed upon them.

It is also important to inform the patient that pains in the eye, while real, are not related to a physical breakdown of the eye itself. When a patient realizes this factor, the pain is likely to be less disturbing. Modern scientific examination of the eyes permits exact determination of their competency for vision. The measurement is just as exact as any type of measurement known to mankind. The scientific physician will not prescribe glasses when he knows that they are not necessary, but will endeavor by a revision of the patient's hygiene and proper psychologic technique to make the glasses unnecessary.
